

End of assumed mortgages gets mixed reaction

by DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

The Supreme Court decision, announced Monday, that the federal government may block home loan assumptions — opening the door to savings and loan associations offering more conventional fixed-rate mortgages — is not being viewed by many in this area as a great help to the home buying market.

Although Richard Pratt, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, said it is the most positive possible development in preserving the existence of fixed-rate, fixed-term mortgages, local realtors view the move as a cut in potential home sales by increasing the cost of mortgages in home resales.

Pratt contends that the decision should mean lower mortgage interest rates and should give first-time homebuyers and those buying new homes "more equitable access to mortgage markets."

On the other hand, a local realtor said that if the decision is observed here, it will mean a buyer could not assume another person's loan at its rate of interest, below the current market rate, nor could a buyer purchase a house on a contract-for-deed basis.

The Supreme Court's 6-2 decision ruled in favor of a 1976 federal regulation allowing federally-chartered savings and loans to "call in" a home loan when the house is sold. The federal regulation applied only to approximately 2,000 federally-chartered savings and loans.

Savings and loan associations account for a little more than 43 percent of all residential mortgage loans; commercial banks, about 17 percent, and federally-supported agencies, about 20 percent. Other lenders account for the balance.

MORTGAGES

The proposed changes would not apply to Federal Housing Administration or Veterans' Administration loans, which do not have "due-on-sale" clauses. The new adjustable-rate mortgages also are generally unaffected, because the interest on these loans already fluctuates with market conditions and there is less incentive for a buyer to "assume" an existing mortgage.

Realtors and savings and loan officials in Missouri and Illinois foresee very little immediate change in securing loans for homebuyers. According to Richard Birner, president of the Real Estate Board of Greater St. Louis, Missouri has no such law to bar "due-on-sale" clauses. The ruling was aimed at state laws that tried to bar such clauses and affects only federally-chartered savings and loans, which account for about 25 percent of the home loans in the St. Louis area, Birner said.

Both Harold Hall of Midwest Savings & Loan, Belleville, and Richard Wallace, a Collinsville realtor, are of the opinion that the ruling will have little effect for a while and federally-chartered savings and loans have been behaving for a year or more as if they already had such a ruling from the court.

Paul Sodko of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan here, explained that all loans since 1974 secured at that institution have the due on sale clause, but those secured prior to 1974 do not include the clause.

This does not mean that property with the clause cannot be sold at a feasible rate of interest, but if the seller wants to be sure, he is advised to call Madison County Federal and he will be given a copy of the mortgage papers or can be given the answer by telephone.

Property loans with federal savings and loan companies in Madison and St. Clair counties can be sold and the buyer can secure a lower interest mortgage through the "blended rate" program, Sodko said.

This would mean that if the interest rate is less than 12½ percent, an agreed upon amount would be brought up to the 12½ percent level and for each additional $5,000 needed to secure the loan one-fourth percent would be added on a three-year balloon loan, to level off at approximately 13½ percent.

Only new loans on property not covered by mortgages with federal savings and loan companies would be set at the prime 16½ percent.

Real estate property mortgages that do not have the due on sale clause can be assumed by a qualified buyer.

Any questions on mortgages on specific real estate property can be answered by calling the lending institution where the loan now exists, Sodko added.

Plan fewer school custodians

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Streamlining of custodial work to cut Granite City school costs was announced as a goal Monday night, and talks about it are planned this month by custodians and a School Board committee.

In a separate action, the board established the post of custodial supervisor and will try to fill the job in the next several weeks. It will be posted for applicants within the school system, and the board has interviewed several non-school personnel.

Custodians attending Monday night's board meeting indicated considerable "bumping" is likely in the late summer if custodial positions are reduced. Various workers would move to other school buildings to retain their employment.

Employees said a projection of eight job reductions is somewhat higher than they had been expecting. The board stressed that its proposal involves attrition rather than outright dismissals.

Board members agreed to delay formal action on custodial staffing until the next meeting, and delayed the meeting date from July 13 to 7:30 p.m. July 20.

Members of Local 98 of Service

Employees International will meet July 10 and may send representatives to a School Board Policy Committee session at 7 p.m. July 15.

Staff size is covered by a board policy rather than the 1981-82 working agreement with Local 98, officials said. In 1981-82, Community Unit School District Nine employees included 84 custodians, four boiler operators and six matrons.

The district's borrowing has been forecast to reach $4,500,000 this summer, prompting administrators to explore ways to limit payrolls and spending.

The plan for fewer custodians takes into account enrollment reductions—from nearly 15,000 in 1970-71 to 9,570 on June 4, 1982—and new methods and standards. Unused classrooms, for example, are likely to be cleaned less often than in the past.

Supt. B. J. Davis said a reduction of Charged in fatal shooting

Paul Dean "Pug Jr." Fisher, 47, of 12 Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach, has been charged with murder and two counts of armed violence in connection with the shooting of three young men in the Curve Inn tavern on Missouri Avenue northwest of the Granite City limits at approximately 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Dead is Rodney D. Hanner, 21, of 3008

Madison Ave., who was shot in the head. His brother, Ronald Q. Hanner, 23, of 2305 E. 20th St., suffered critical injuries from bullets to his chest, abdomen and buttocks, but is recuperating from his injuries.

Also shot was Troy E. Howell, 31, of 2512 Jerden Ave., the son of the tavern owner. Howell suffered a bullet to his left upper arm. He was admitted to St.

Elizabeth Medical Center in fair condition and is improving.

According to Madison County Sheriff's Department spokesman, Lt. Robert Hertz, an argument developed inside the tavern between Howell and another man, whose name is being withheld. The verbal argument developed into a "push and shove" match, during which the Hanner brothers got involved.

Hertz said deputies believe Howell had a gun in his waistband and Ronald Hanner succeeded in removing the gun, but did not fire it. Then, "for some unknown reason," Fisher, who was with his wife, displayed a gun and started firing into the group of four, Hertz said.

Deputies believe approximately six shots were fired, five striking persons and one lodging in the ceiling of the tavern.

Where Fisher got the gun has not been determined, according to Hertz. The weapon has not been recovered.

Granite City officers were the first to arrive on the scene and detained all of those who were present. Very few had left after the shooting, authorities were told.

After talking to witnesses, officers took Fisher into custody without incident.

New, 'Dial-a-Shuttle'

For the first time in the history of the U.S. space mission, it is possible to listen to live radio transmissions between an orbiting spacecraft and mission control in Houston, Texas.

Conversations, as they occur between the space shuttle Columbia and Houston Control, can be heard by calling 1-800-410-6272. There is a 96-cent charge for the call and a 36-cent charge for each additional minute of listening.

Through cooperation between the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the special phone service has been established and will be available through the end of the flight on July 4.

Callers will be charged for the initial call and each additional minute they stay on the line even though gaps may occur in the conversations between the space shuttle and Houston Control. During the gaps, a beep will sound every 10 seconds to confirm the connection is still good. Those making the "long distance" call take the chance on whether any conversations will be heard.

It is suggested that calls should not be made between 7 p.m. and 3:30 a.m. CDT, when the astronauts are sleeping.

ENJOYING THE CARNIVAL. The Granite City Park District Fourth of July celebration at Wilson Park is now underway with the opening of the carnival and concessions last night. This giant "Super Slide" is just one of the Ray Sawyer Carnival rides awaiting patrons to the annual event, which will be topped off by a fireworks display at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Hall may sue county for local collection

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Namecki Township Tax Collector Norman Hall will object to any attempts by County Treasurer Michael Henkhaus to collect taxes from township residents before Sept. 1 and may take part in legal action to prevent July and August county collections, he said this week.

Edwardsville Township Tax Collector Steven Lopez filed an injunction request Tuesday in Madison County Circuit Court seeking a temporary restraining order to prevent Henkhaus from collecting taxes before the September date.

The case was to be heard in court this afternoon and Hall said he intends to be in the courtroom, at least as an observer.

Hall said Namecki Township may join forces with Edwardsville or file its own court action within the next week, depending on the progress of the Lopez case. "I hope this will clarify it once and for all," Hall said.

According to Hall, Namecki Township Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr. and Edwardsville Township Attorney M. Joseph Hill are in communication with one another. Hall remains uncertain what the attorneys may decide as far as joining the two townships in the fight against early county collections.

Monday, after Hall addressed the township board, the trustees in a 4 to 1 vote authorized their attorney to take court action, if necessary.

Hall said he finds objectionable a dual collection system, where both the county and the township attempt to collect the same tax bills from residents at the same time.

Hall is uncertain what message Henkhaus intends to sending to taxpayers with their property tax bills this year. However, Hall said, either he or Lopez, or both, will try to stop the county treasurer from including with bills a return envelope addressed to the county or a statement asking taxpayers to direct their checks to the county treasurer.

Lopez is asking the court to either have Henkhaus deliver the tax bills to Edwardsville Township or to insert a note with the bills telling the taxpayers to submit payments to the township.

According to Hall, Namecki Township also wants the inclusion of a statement telling taxpayers to submit their first tax payment exclusively to the Namecki Township collector.

Hall said his position is backed by an Illinois Supreme Court ruling last year.

JOB WELL DONE. Donald Partney Jr., right, receives a plaque for leading the Tri-City YMCA's sustaining drive "over the top" this year. Partney, chairman of the drive, collected the most money and obtained the largest contributions as the drive netted $13,429, approximately 110 percent of the goal.

"Don really set the pace," said David Fenrite, center, YMCA executive director. At the left is Dr. John Gabyreath, president of the YMCA Board of Directors. Money raised in the drive will benefit youth programs.

Teachers attend county workshop

Dr. Alice Purdes, fifth grade teacher at Venice Grade School was selected to receive the Madison County Environmental Education Committee's Conservation Scholarship. The course, Regional Problems in Conservation ("Geography 424"), was worth four credit hours at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and was held for one week, according to the announcement.

A hearing is planned in Madison-St. Clair counties Aug. 12.

"Illinois citizens have an opportunity to become involved in telling state government what it should be doing through block grants to help lay the foundation for state and local human services for at least the next decade," the governor said.

Block grant hearing in area on Aug. 12

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that the Task Force on Health and Human Services Block Grant Implementation will hold a series of educational forums and public hearings across the state to seek public participation in implementing federal block grants in Illinois.

A hearing is planned in Madison-St. Clair counties Aug. 12.

"Illinois citizens have an opportunity to become involved in telling state government what it should be doing through block grants to help lay the foundation for state and local human services for at least the next decade," the governor said.

Recall attic ventilators.

William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, announced that a voluntary recall of 11,500 roof-mounted motor-powered attic ventilators is being made by Sears, Roebuck and Co.

"The ventilators are being recalled because the motors may overheat and cause roof-top fires," Kempiners said.

The recall covers Emerson Electric Company Model No. 758-648860. The identification plate is on the back of the motor. The light-gray molded polyvinyl ventilating hoods were sold nationwide through Sears retail stores and catalog sales in 1980 and 1981.

Owners of the ventilators should discontinue using them and contact Emerson Electric Company on their toll-free number: 1-800-325-4190, a spokesman said.

Persons wishing additional information may contact CPSC's toll-free Safety Hotline at 1-800-638-6326.

Parents should take precautions against animal bites

By JOYCE MITCHELL
St. Elizabeth
Medical Center

Last April, a little boy playing behind his Granite City house reached out to pet a neighborhood cat. The cat attacked, clawing and biting his hand, arm and shoulder. It took a two-day search to locate the animal so that it could be quarantined and checked for rabies. According to the boy's mother, he is now extremely afraid of all animals, including the neighbor's baby kitten.

A few weeks ago, a newborn was attacked in her crib by a pet raccoon. The baby's parents said the animal is kept outside but sneaked into the house through the attic. This normally docile pet had to be pulled off the baby after almost severing one finger. It isn't known at this time if the baby will regain full use of her left hand.

These are, of course, the more extreme cases, but the St. Elizabeth Medical Center Emergency Room has treated more than 40 animal-related injuries since the first of April. Dr. Steven Spurgeon, emergency room physician at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, said that there usually is a rise in the number of children injured by animals during July and August and, for that reason, parents and pet owners are being asked to take extra precautions during the summer months.

Granite City Humane Officer Paul Derossert said that he had 79 reported injuries in the first six months of this year and that many of these animals did not have rabies inoculations.

Additional precautions for pet owners include:
—Try to keep your pet confined to your own yard.
—Make sure all shots are up to date.

—If your pet does bite or seriously scratch someone, notify the proper authorities. Following a 10-day quarantine, your pet will be examined by a veterinarian.

State law requires this procedure for all animals, whether or not they have been inoculated.

Parents also should be reminded:
—Never leave an infant or small child alone with an animal. Even the most loving pet is unpredictable.
—Teach children to leave animals alone when they are feeding and to handle them gently.

—Remind children not to approach stray animals.
—Know what to do if the child is injured. Immediately scrub the wound with soap and water and protect it with a sterile bandage. Call the authorities. Be prepared to give a description and the last known whereabouts of the animal.

—Seek medical attention for the victim. To report an injury, city residents may call the Granite City Humane Officer at 452-6233. County residents may call the County Rabies Control Office at 1-692-4429.

Chromalloy promotes 2

Norman E. Alexander, chairman of the board of Chromalloy American Corporation, has been named chief executive officer of the multi-industry company and William E. Stevens, chief operating officer, has been named president. The appointments are effective July 1 with the retirement of Frank P. Nykiel as president and chief executive officer.

The firm owns the Precast Metals plant here. At the company's annual meeting in May, it was announced that Nykiel intended to retire from his posts upon reaching age 65 in December 1982. For reasons of health, he has advanced his retirement as an officer. He will remain a Chromalloy director.

Alexander has been chairman since August 1980 and a director since May of that year. He is also chairman and chief executive officer of Sun Chemical Corp., which owns 37 percent of Chromalloy's common stock.

Stevens joined Chromalloy in May 1982 as senior executive vice-president and chief operating officer. He became a director of the company in June. Before joining Chromalloy, Stevens was a corporate vice-president of Beatrice Foods Company, Chicago, and president of Beatrice's Consumer and Commercial Products Division.

Nykiel has been Chromalloy's president and chief executive officer since 1980. Previously, he served as executive vice-president and chief financial officer, marine group, when the Valley Line, a large company of which he was executive vice-president, and was acquired by Chromalloy.

Stevens said, "There has been a lot of progress in pruning down and simplifying the organization. 'The corporation is more focused around key industries and markets in which we hold an important position. And the capital invested in our major operating companies in recent years will enable us to show strong progress when the economy improves.'"

Founded by the late Joseph Friedman of Madison and Granite City, Chromalloy American is headquartered in St. Louis and has 1981 net sales and operating revenues of $1.1 billion.

Chromalloy produces and sells a broad range of products and services through operating companies in five industry segments: transportation, metal fabrication, petroleum services, apparel and financial services.

Troop 7 hosts family fun day

This week Boy Scout Troop 7, of St. Joseph Church, held its first of two planned family fun day, at Beaver Creek Lake State Park near Shipman, Ill.

The scouts raised the troop flag to indicate that the day was on a troop activity. Family Fun Day is designed not only for the scouts but fun for the entire scouting family of Troop 7, Brother Robert Manzner, M.S.F., scoutmaster.

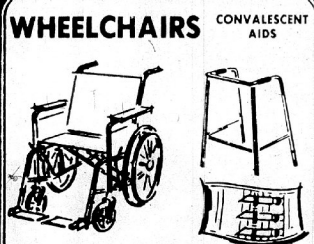

The day's activities included: "two-pitch waste ball," a game similar to softball; horseshoes, badminton, jarts, volleyball, fishing contest and a turtle race.

Fishing contest winners were, Ted Brazel (overall) and Kevin Williamson (scouts). The turtle race was between turtles found by Kevin Williamson and Mark Brazel, and the turtle under the guidance of Mark Brazel crossed the finish line first, it was announced.

Ann Kusmierczak and Joyce Brazel prepared barbecue chicken at the park, with families bringing side dishes. The all day event closed shortly before the park closed with a watermelon feast. Transportation provided by Ted Brazel, Steve Kusmierczak and Bob Hagen.

The next troop activity for the scouts will be the troop's "Adventure '82" which will take them to Washington, D.C. for a week beginning on July 10. Scouts will travel to and from Washington on Amtrak Trains, the scoutmaster explained.

Eberhart sued over 2 full-time jobs

A suit has been filed in Madison County Circuit Court requesting a legal decision whether Chouteau Township Highway Commissioner Wilfred "Bud" Eberhart can continue to hold two full-time public jobs. The suit was filed by Peyton Lee Pavia, a Chouteau Township resident.

Eberhart is being sued because the town board named him full-time road commissioner and doubled his salary from $7,500 to $15,000, last year. However, he also is paid more than $15,000 a year as a full-time mechanic for Madison County.

He has been Chouteau Township highway commissioner for five years, an elected position. Prior to the April, 1981, election, the town board increased his salary.

The Illinois revised statutes require that township highway commissioner be a full-time job if the commissioner is paid more than $10,000, according to the suit.

The suit was filed to get clarification of the full-time provisions, and to determine if the Madison County courts say he can hold two full-time jobs, Pavia said. If Eberhart cannot hold both jobs, then the highway commissioner's salary should be returned to the township, he added.

Eberhart's response to the allegation is that he believes he is functioning as a full-time highway commissioner because he works many nights, weekends and holidays and is on call 24 hours a day.

"I do not think there is such a thing as a part-time highway commissioner. All township highway commissioners work full-time," Eberhart explained. "I feel I am more than doing the job and am justified in accepting the salary."

Walter "Dick" Sparks, township supervisor, answered in agreement and contended that the township attorney and the Illinois Association of Township Officials also define full time as "however much it takes to do the job."

"We feel he is doing the job and we have received no complaints about Eberhart's work," Sparks added.

WILLIE E. DENNIS, president of Madison Federation of Teachers Local 763, will represent three area teachers groups at the 66th annual convention of the American Federation of Teachers tomorrow through Wednesday in New York City. He will represent Venice Local 965, Duplo Local 1732 and Madison Local 763. Approximately 3,000 delegates are expected to attend, representing the 568,000 members of the AFT. Statements against federal budget cuts, tuition tax credits and other measures threatening public education are expected during the event.

Fund crisis may end Venice lunch program

By MIKE MOORE of the Press-Record

The Venice Park Board may stop paying for the hot lunch program provided for the summer recreation program participants because the expense is becoming too high, officials said. The money promised by Mayor Tyrone Echols of Venice had not been received as of Monday's special meeting of the park board.

"We're going to be disappointed (more than) 180 children. We wish we had the money, but it isn't there. Our children look forward to the hot lunch, but what can we do? We hope something or someone will come to our aid," said Park Board President John Henry Williams.

The Rev. Williams said that Mayor Echols pledged for the park food program. Roseann Koelker, present secretary and treasurer of the park board, offered her letter of resignation, effective June 30. Mrs. Koelker's reason for her resignation was that the position had become time consuming and it leaves her little personal time.

"Mrs. Koelker has done an excellent job and she has been given an appreciation certificate or an award for a job well done," stated Rev. Williams.

He temporarily appointed James Harrell until the next meeting to fill Mrs. Koelker's position. Harrell has a bachelor's degree in accounting.

Appointments of committees were approved. Appointed were: finance committee—Joan Silas, chairman, and Mrs. Barbara Harrell; building and ground committee—George Tyus Jr., chairman, and Miss Silas; police and recreation—Earl Hogan, chairman, and Miss Silas, and personnel committee—Barbara Harrell, chairman. Tyus was appointed as a Venice Park policeman.

Appointments of personnel approved were: attorney, Larry Hartman; superintendent, Dale Crawford; recreation directors, Silver Franklin and Charles Collin; maintenance foreman, Charles Ranges, and Venice Park police, Oliver Massey.

"All appointments can be changed and employees can be dismissed at any time, with the approval of the board," said Rev. Williams.

The board tabled the decision of which bank to use for the park district funds. A decision will be made at the July 8 meeting, said Rev. Williams.

He thanked Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison for donating use of a truck to the park district. June 26 without any charge. The truck was used by Venice Park employees in painting the flag pole. "It would have been dangerous and very hard to do without Mayor Sasyk's help," said Williams.

Rev. Williams also commended new board member Hogan for donating his truck and a barbecue pit to the park district.

A public hearing on ordinance number 114, a tentative budget for the Venice Park District, will begin July 8 at 7 p.m. at 7:30, immediately following the hearing, the next regular meeting will begin.

County eyes layoffs and pay concessions

By JIM SCHILUTER
The Madison County Board is turning to the three county employee unions for help in solving its 1983 budget problems.

In a special meeting Monday night, the board approved a resolution instructing the board's negotiations and finance committees to consider wage freezes, wage reductions or other concessions.

"The county is facing a $2 million budget deficit in 1983," Chairman Nelson Hagnauer called it the worst financial situation the county has ever seen.

He urged the board to meet with the unions but he also predicted employee layoffs.

"I don't see how we can get by without cuts in personnel. It's just something we have to do," Hagnauer said. "I hope we can meet with the local unions and see what recommendations they might have."

Union contracts approved last winter by the county call for negotiated pay increases totaling $500,000 in 1983. The increases boost the previously estimated general fund deficit of $1.5 million up to about $2 million.

According to county officials, employee salaries make up at least 75 percent of the general fund.

The American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees is the largest of the three unions, representing most county courthouse workers.

Operating Engineers represent sheriff's department employees, while Teamsters represent highway department workers.

Members of the county board negotiations committee warned the unions last winter that the negotiated pay increases would be cut.

"The board has to have the guts to go to the unions and ask for concessions," board member Homer Henke, of Moro said.

"It's not a popular thing to say. I don't want to cut, but if it comes to cutting departments, we have to do it."

AFSCME Local 799 president Joanna Watson said she had heard that the county wanted to meet with the union, but she had not been contacted by any county officials.

She declined comment on any concessions until she meets with the county board committees.

STORE WINDOW DAMAGED

Four holes were shot in the north plate glass window of Tri-City Road Service, 3130 Nameki Road. The incident was reported to Granite City police last week.

Attorney Protect eyes from fireworks resigns

Ben Urban resigned Monday evening as Collinsville city attorney, effective yesterday, noting that he is a subject of a state and county inquiry on truck bail bond refunds. No one has been charged.

Court bonds posted for truck drivers have been refunded wrongfully since 1979, with the total estimated at $100,000 to $150,000, authorities say.

State's Attorney Don W. Weber views the case as similar to the commercial "You can't eat just one potato chip." When the first fake court order produced big cash without repercussions, an individual then used the same method repeatedly, Weber said.

Signatures of officials were forged through a photo-copying method, on false documents ordering the city post bonds, with the money to be given to "their" attorney.

Mayor Gene Bromblich believes Urban performed all his city governmental duties properly. "He has done an excellent job."

The resignation was accepted with regret. The mayor speculated that Urban can be reapointed to the city post, which pays about $10,000 a year, upon being cleared in the truck bond investigation.

Urban, a Republican precinct committeeman, applied unsuccessfully in 1980 to become a St. Clair County associate judge. He does legal work in Collinsville and Belleville.

WEAPON MISSING

A .32-caliber revolver with black handles was reported missing from the home of Ruby Leonard, 221 Hampden St., Venice, she reported last week.

No one would deliberately blind a child, yet many children will be exposed to the risk of blindness on the Fourth of July by parents, relatives and friends who use illegal fireworks to celebrate Independence Day, Edgar T. Britton, executive director of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness said.

"We cannot stress enough the dangers people expose themselves to when they use fireworks. All fireworks have the potential to damage or even destroy the eye. Even sparklers are dangerous because they are capable of reaching temperatures of up to 2,000 degrees," Britton said.

"Unfortunately, a record number of eye injuries were reported to the Illinois Society last year; 45 percent of those injured were children."

"Most of the injuries did not cause permanent damage, but one boy needed a corneal transplant to save his eyesight," Britton said. "It is very discouraging when children and adults actually risk eye damage for a few thrills with illegal fireworks."

"We hope everyone will enjoy the Fourth of July with a safe public display of fireworks," Britton concluded.

Cahokia Mounds tour on July 8

Twelve thousand years of human history will be explored in a day-long tour of the Cahokia Mounds and the Kankakee, Ill., archaeological site, on Thursday, July 8, sponsored by the St. Louis Museum of Science and Natural History.

At Cahokia Mounds, tour participants will learn about a culture which controlled its local resources and trade to such an extent that its influence extended over a million square miles, a spokesman said.

At Kankakee, considered to be one of the richest archaeological zones in the U.S., more than 2,500 prehistoric sites will be visited along with the facilities of the Archaeological Center, a reconstructed native American village and a museum.

Cost of the tour is $19.50 per person. Participants are to bring a sack lunch, with soft drinks provided by the museums. Reservations are being made with Lynn Kratzer at 314-726-2888.

BURGULARS FIND CASH

A burglar obtained $103 Monday night from the mobile home of Jane Maris, 2438 Ohio Ave. An unrelated burglary Tuesday netted $100 at the apartment of July Kuehnle, 3206 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Parker retires from Laborers

Charles R. Parker, secretary-treasurer of Laborers Local 397 in Granite City for the past 33 years and a member for 40 years, retired today.

Succeeding him in the full-time position with the local, which serves the Quad-City area, is James R. Schmedake of Granite City. The other full-time officer is Arthur Griffin, longtime business agent.

Marshall Testerman is president of Local 397. Representing the local in presenting a watch and other gifts to Parker June 25 was C. W. Simpson, a veteran member.

More than 100 persons gathered at the Laborers building on Missouri Avenue for the reception, retirement ceremonies and refreshments. Parker spoke briefly to thank them for the association with the union.

He is a brother of Sally Parker, professional baseball manager and his long association with the organization of local teams and leagues.

Charles Parker resided in Granite City until moving to St. Louis in recent months. His daughters, Sandy and Brenda, and their families also live in St. Louis.

He said he and his wife, Helene, plan to travel and fish.

DUI THEFT CASE

Mark A. Baiter, 215 Hampton St., Venice, was fined $165 at 2 p.m. Monday after being charged with taking a bottle of liquor from Corral Liquors, 3304 Nameki Road, the previous day. William Cane, 27, of 2125 Dawn, arrested at the same time and place for retail theft and for driving while under the influence of alcohol, pleaded innocent to both charges Monday and was released on a $3,000 recognizance bond.

NAKED LEAP ALLEGED

Charles W. Wilson, 31, of 1710 State St. was charged with disorderly conduct this week for allegedly jumping naked into a private swimming pool in a back yard in the 2300 block of Illinois. Wilson, a 19-year-old girl was present. Pleading innocent Monday afternoon, he was freed on a $1,500 recognizance bond.

School Custodians

eight custodians may be possible this fall if the proposed new policy is adopted. He noted that about five or six jobs already are, or will become, vacant due to retirements.

Hiring and assignments have been based on the enrollment and the volume of activities at the 18 schools.

A new approach recommended by the Policy Committee calls for the number of custodians to be determined by enrollment, scheduled activities, the required tasks and a determination by the director of buildings and grounds, who is Ronald Hall, of the board.

Tasks and times specified are: clean a classroom, 20 minutes; clean a kitchen, 20 minutes; per fixture in a restroom, 2 1/2 minutes; kindergarten, 30 minutes; clean an office area, 10 minutes; clean a multi-purpose room, 18 minutes; and clean 1,200 square feet of corridor, five minutes.

Minimum performance standards, which were not spelled out in the past, are outlined for the cleaning of normal classrooms, kitchens, cafeteria areas, gymnasiums, kindergarten rooms, restrooms, office areas, halls, stairs, doorways, locker rooms, shower rooms and coaches' offices.

The proposal makes custodians "responsible for the proper cleaning and appearance of the area under their responsibility, including replacing light bulbs, washing windows, scrubbing and waxing when time allows, assisting for set-up of activities in the building, and other custodial duties as assigned by the building principal."

The new policy would eliminate an existing rule assigning each custodian 14,000 square feet of a building.

A delegation from Local 98 at the Board of Education meeting included Jerry Webb, president, and Don Murphy, business agent. The group had learned details of the proposal on June 25 from the agenda prepared for the board session.

Webb urged that no final action be taken that night. He sought time in which to complete a survey of each building to assess the impact.

"We have some feedback and would like to have more time to talk to our people. We'll then discuss it at our meeting Saturday, July 10," he told the board.

"We think we may have some ideas to inject that will be helpful. We foresee some problems if the policy is adopted tonight."

Harold Hillmer, employee relations administrator, said a decision will be needed soon so that relocation requests can be handled prior to the start of the new school year. Assignment changes take place through a bumping and bidding process that considers seniority and preferences.

President George Moore obtained board approval to delay the next scheduled board meeting for one week.

The 84 custodians assigned for 1981-82 consist of 29 at the high school level (17 at South and 12 at North), 18 at the junior high schools (seven at Coolidge, six at Grigsby and five at Prather), 31 at 13 elementary schools and one at the board office.

There are matrons at the board office, South High, North High and the Coolidge, Prather and Grigsby junior high schools.

Hall may sue

giving township collectors the exclusive right to collect taxes prior to the Sept. 1 cutoff date (when township collectors must turn their books over to the county treasurer). The Nameki Township collector said the ruling, based on a 1976 Peoria Township versus Peoria County court test, also states there is no authorization for a dual tax collection system, such as has been conducted in the past.

Hall said he must decide soon what direction that the Nameki trustees should take, since he anticipates the first tax bills will be ready as early as the end of next week.

"I hope I don't have to take legal action," said Hall, who would prefer to settle it on a friendlier basis with the county treasurer. However, Hall termed a phone conversation with Henkhaus last week "very unproductive."

Hall, who took office in January, promised he would work for local collections and quick disbursements in an effort to prevent borrowing for more than the dozen taxing districts partially or completely dependent on Nameki Township for tax monies.

In a February memo to the township, Hall said contacts with eight of the taxing districts, reflect the opinion a reduced waiting period for tax payments "would be of great savings to them."

Hall's position is being funded on a one-year trial period with the understanding that the collector will actively collect and disburse the funds, according to a board agreement. Hall, however, said the board does not have the right to adjust his salary during his term, according to state statutes.

In an effort to secure local collections, Hall already has opened accounts at five area banks where taxpayers can pay their cash directly to the township. Hall said he has opened accounts at First National Bank in Madison, Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, First Granite City National Bank, Colonial Bank of Granite City and First National Bank of Collinsville.

"We will be disbursing (taxes to the taxing districts) every Monday morning," Hall said, regardless of the county's plans.

Lower deficit on school food

Granite City schools' lunch program remains a cost to the school district, but the financial pattern has improved sharply, a report by Michael Katak, new director of food services, points out.

A discussion by the Board of Education on Monday night brought out the cafeteria's lost $105,608 in September but then cut their monthly losses to $47,687 in October, $26,229 in November, $19,307 in December and $11,545 in January 1982.

"Red ink" amounted to $12,106 in February, $14,031 in March, $17,339 in April and $14,860 in May-June.

The monthly figures plus $52,932 for vacation pay, and $23,028 in unused sick leave payments to five who remain, increase the year's food service deficit to $344,672, including $188,831 in July-December 1981 and $155,841 in January-June 1982.

The previous year's $617,284 deficit consisted of $282,807 in July-December 1980 and $334,477 in January-June 1981.

Lunch prices were increased last fall and the schools also began offering a wider range of food choices. Staffing and hours were revised.

In the final 23 school days of 1981-82, during May and early June, there were profits at Coolidge Junior High and Johnson, Lake, Logan, Marshall, Niedringhaus, Webster and Wilson schools and deficits at South High ($9,085 of the district's $14,860 May-June food deficit), Prather Junior High, North High, Grigsby Junior High, Emerson, Frohardt, Maryville, Mitchell, Nameoki and Parkview.

Another statistical report at the board meeting showed that enrollment decreased 75, from 9,645 on April 30 to 9,570 on June 4. Attendance in the closing five weeks averaged 91.62 percent.

There were 17 new entries in May-June but also 92 enrollment reductions — seven transfers within the district, 20 who moved within Illinois, 32 who moved out of this state, 29 who were dropped, two who died, one who was imprisoned and one student who withdrew due to poor health.

Homebound instruction for the year just ended cost $14,379. Children served totaled eight from South High, five from North High, two from junior high schools and seven from elementary schools.

Reasons for homebound teaching were fractures, five; monocleusis, three; and a brain tumor, knee laceration, chronic tonsillitis, severe burns, orthopedic disease, impaired nervous system, depressive disorder, pilonidal cyst surgery, kidney transplant, pregnancy, behavioral disorder, myocardial conduction due to an auto accident, polymyositis and scoliosis.

The 331 Granite City District Nine students referred to Coordinated Youth Services for truancy in 1981-82 included 99 from South High, four from North High, 42 from Coolidge Junior High, 36 from Prather Junior High, four from Grigsby Junior High, 69 from elementary schools and 77 from the alternative school.

Truancy contacts in the final month of the spring semester consisted of 52 home visits, 89 telephone calls and 26 other communications.

Of 15 court referrals in the past year, five complaints were refused by prosecutors, courts took action in six cases, and four other cases are awaiting court settings.

Other bids opened June 24 were from E. L. Rule, $53,200, and Leo Wolf, $62,726.

Because the low bid exceeded advance cost estimates by an architect, administrators are conferring with the contractor on whether part of the work could be done by school employees instead of sub-contractors.

Such work might include touch-up painting, removal of present scaffolding, electrical work and provision of protective covering for the gym floor. The decision was left up to a meeting between the low bidder and the school district staff.

RESTITUTION OF $1,802 IS ORDERED

For a felony theft (value of $300 or more) in the unincorporated area of Madison County Jan. 21, Tony N. Gray, 35, of 2023 Collinsville Ave., Madison, has been fined $210 plus $21 costs and has been placed on two-year probation.

Associate Judge Edward Ferguson also ordered Gray to make restitution of $1,802.

Day for former war prisoners planned July 9

In cooperation with the Department of Defense, the Veterans Administration will lead the nation July 9 in honoring America's 100,000 former prisoners of war.

President Ronald Reagan, in conjunction with a Congressional resolution, has designated Friday, July 9, as Prisoner of War-

Missing in Action. Recognition Day. The ceremony will be held at the Pentagon, hosted by the defense Department.

The Prisoners of War Health Care Benefits Act of 1981 gives former POWs special priority for VA medical treatment. It also reduces from six months to 30 days the requisite interim period for presumptions relating to certain diseases associated with prison camps in compensation claims.

In the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, 1981, VA hospitals treated 4,553 former POWs, including 2,350 with service-connected ailments.

A 14-member advisory committee on former prisoners of war assists Administrator Nimmo.

Committee members represent European and Pacific theaters of World War II, Korea and Vietnam and each branch of the military.

'Workfare' an option for states

States and jurisdictions have the option of adopting the "workfare" concept as a permanent feature of the food stamp program according to proposed regulations announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Work-eligible food stamp recipients participate in work experience activity in addition to receiving food stamp benefits under the workfare program. Public service work is done in return for food stamp benefits and valued at the federal or state minimum wage level, whichever is higher. A household could be required to perform a maximum of 20 hours of work per week under the program, which was started in July, 1979, in some areas.

"We believe workfare can provide valuable work experience to recipients in assisting them to become self-reliant and we are hopeful that skills acquired in this program will enable more public assistance participants to transfer to private sector employment," said Mary Jarrett, assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The USDA's Food and

Nutrition Service would provide 50 percent funding to both states and operating agencies for costs incurred under the workfare program. Participants would be reimbursed up to $25 per month for transportation and necessary work equipment not provided by the employer as part of the 50 percent funding.

The Agriculture and Food Act of 1981, Public Law 97-98, approved Dec. 22, 1981, authorized the extension of workfare as a permanent feature of the food stamp program. The law allows participating jurisdictions to combine food stamp workfare activities with similar programs that state and local jurisdictions might already have.

Betty Miles of Granite City has been named a certified legal investigator by the National Association of Legal Investigators, it was learned this week.

A legal investigator for Chapman and Carlson Attorneys, a Granite City law firm, for the past six years, Mrs. Miles previously worked for the same firm as a secretary.

She received the certification after successfully completing written and oral examinations, evaluated by an examining board, during the association's annual convention which concluded last week at the Lodge of the Four Seasons, Lake Ozark, Mo.

Other criteria included 90 semester hours at an accredited college or university, or certified equivalent work experience.

Mrs. Miles is one of only two women to be certified by the professional organization. The other is Joan Stensrud of Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Miles is the mother of a married daughter, Andrea, and a son, Randal, at home.

Clock stolen at St. John Church

Sometime during the weekend a large electric clock was taken from the wall of the quilling room of St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road.

The timepiece was given in memory of a long time quilter, Mrs. Pauline Schroeder, by her daughter Ruth Mann. Mrs. Schroeder died in February 1973 at the age of 93.

An appeal is being made by the quilling ladies for the return of the sentimental gift. Anyone with information in conjunction with the clock is requested to call the church office at 877-6060.

STORE VANDALS PICK TWO DAYS IN A ROW

Lampert Auto Center, 3214 Nameoki Road, was the site of vandalism and a possible attempted burglary sometime during the weekend. Both events took place after business hours.

In the first incident reported at 8:40 a.m. Saturday, vandals sprayed white paint on all of the windows of the automobile parts store. In the second incident, discovered at 3:30 a.m. Sunday, police officers found two windows at the rear of the building broken. Bars prevented entry.

Valentine-Durborow

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Valentine

Miss Ellen Kay Durborow became the bride of Gerald Lynn Valentine in an evening ceremony on June 5 at Reno Bethel Presbyterian Church in Reno, Ill.

Pianist Mrs. Betty Baumberger played "Time In a Bottle," "Brian's Song" and the traditional wedding march, preceding the service.

The Rev. James Howie officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6:30 in the evening before an altar decorated with ferns and baskets of ivory and peach roses.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Dale (Marilyn) Durborow of Sorento, formerly of Granite City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar (Shirley) Valentine, also of Sorento.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore an ivory polyester crepe A-line gown fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline and lace sleeves. A halo of baby's breath secured her ivory fingertip veil and she held a cascade bouquet of peach and ivory roses.

Miss Jolene Kissar served as maid of honor. She was attired in a peach gown designed with a sleeveless fitted bodice and full skirt, trimmed with ivory lace and she carried a bouquet of peach and ivory roses.

Isaiah 44:24... "I am the Lord that makeeth all things."

How easy it is to forget that God is the Creator. Not only did He create the universe, but he is the Creator of man. He made us. We did not make him. And yet we continually try to make God in our image.

We seem to want a God that winks at sin. One who is not at all serious about holiness and righteousness. One who will let us live as we please and then place us all in a place called Heaven.

Still he that cometh to God must believe that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. We must exert our Heavenly Father, and submit our will to his. Let us fill the purpose for which we were created.

Michael A. Gagich joined the active duty roster of the Granite City Police Department last week in a style seldom encountered by a young police officer.

He's worked hard for the unusual pre-service recognition, but undoubtedly will live up to his advanced billing.

Probationary Patrolman Gagich went on the 3 to 11 p.m. shift Wednesday after being officially welcomed by Granite City Mayor Paul Schulz, Norbert Sudholt, president of the Granite City Board of Fire and Police Commissioners and Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer.

This pretty heady combination of authoritarians gathered in Chief Veizer's office last week to officially greet and congratulate the new officer.

The former policeman, resident in a brand new uniform being worn for the first time, didn't bat an eye. His pose was as evident as his new badge.

Gagich's presence was requested at headquarters one day earlier than his assigned duty schedule, for the presentation of a plaque, recognizing his designation as the "Outstanding Scholastic Achievement" honoree at the Illinois Police Training Institute.

"We are very proud of him," Chief Veizer said. "We've had men make seconds and thirds in the Institute, but this is the first time one of our officers has achieved a first place."

Gagich completed the required six-week Basic Law Enforcement Course at the University of Illinois last week, attaining a 96.7 percent overall grade point average.

He received a diploma and plaque at graduation exercises held during the weekend at the U of I campus at Champaign-Urbana, where the institute is located.

Among the 38 officers attending the institute, Gagich was one of two men from communities in Southern Illinois. Most of the officers enrolled were sent by departments in the Chicago area and North-Central Illinois.

The new officer is well acquainted with the Granite City Police Department for a couple of reasons.

From May, 1979, until the hiring of CETA (Manpower) workers was discontinued for lack of funding on July 15, 1981, he was employed by the department as a radio dispatcher, a job which puts the individual at the focal point of police operations.

Secondly, he is the son of a juvenile officer, Duane Gagich, a veteran of 14 years on the Granite City force.

The father represented the local department at the institute's graduation ceremonies and presented his son with the diploma.

"We knew Mike had done well in the course and was up there near the top, but we were unaware he'd be in first place," Chief Veizer commented.

Also attending the ceremony at Champaign was the graduate's mother, Mrs. Norma Maddox of Ballwin, Mo.

Gagich, 25, has been interested in the field of law enforcement since he was a boy. He graduated from Granite City High School South in 1975 and shortly thereafter enlisted in the U.S. Army for a three-year period.

He completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and was assigned to Military Police School, subsequently serving at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and overseas in Korea and Germany.

Gagich attended Belleville Area College upon leaving the Army, earning an associate degree in Criminal Justice Administration. He then worked as police dispatcher.

After taking the required examinations—offered to all prospective police candidates—Gagich was hired. "Very high," according to Police Board President Norbert Sudholt, Gagich was appointed a probationary patrolman on May 1, 1982.

The vacancy he fills on the force was created by the untimely death of Officer Edward Wiesehan.

Sworn strength of the Granite City department is 52 officers, with the current roster listing 51 active duty personnel.

With the release last year of four radio dispatchers, including Gagich, the reduction in force now keeps five full-time police officers off the street, the police chief noted in passing.

The Police Training Institute is regulated by the Illinois Local Governmental Law Enforcement Officers Training Board.

The basic course covers various aspects of law enforcement and is divided into four segments.

The Law (62 hours) sessions focus on courtroom testimony and case preparation, civil rights, criminal offenses, juvenile law and statutes concerning arrest, search, seizure and evidence.

The Police Function and Human Behavior (30 hours) segment relates to the topics of child abuse, variant human and stress behavior, police-citizen relations, police morality and processing of juveniles.

The third part of the course concentrates on Patrol and Investigation Procedures (76 hours) and is the most comprehensive instructional module, stressing crimes against persons and property, crime prevention, cannabis and controlled substances, processing a crime scene, drinking driver enforcement, fingerprinting, report writing, traffic accidents, direction and enforcement, plus practical exercises in custodial interviews, crimes, in progress, collecting evidence, traffic crash investigation and vehicle stops and occupant control.

Police Proficiency (53 hours) is the final series of classes, which deals with emergency first aid, the use of firearms and all the ramifications of using or not using a weapon in a given situation, together with the physical skills and personal defense techniques.

Gagich is interested in all areas of law enforcement but he admits, albeit in a low-keyed manner, to having a special leaning toward investigation.

Just give him a little time.

Nick J. Petrillo, 1982 crusade chairman of the Quad-City Unit of the American Cancer Society, has acknowledged the work of all of the leaders in the Cancer Society Crusade and announced the effort.

"We are now $19,547 toward our unit contribution to a state goal of $7 million," he reported.

Petrillo pointed out that volunteers in the crusade have distributed the society's 1982 crusade leaflets while seeking contributions and offers. He is urging all residents who did not receive one to write for a copy of a leaflet, which describes some of the new developments in cancer research and announces the start of a new Cancer Prevention Study.

Petrillo noted that much of what we know about major cancer causes came from the first Cancer Prevention Study, conducted by the American Cancer Society, volunteers, who followed the lives of one million adults to determine how their habits and environment affected their chances of cancer.

From this 20-year study came much of today's knowledge about cancer prevention and the proof that cigarette smoking causes lung cancer.

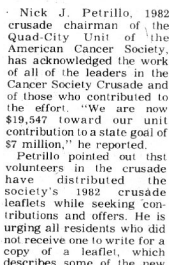

Petrillo explained that now, because of our exposure to new substances and our changing lifestyles, the society is making plans for a second study and looking for 7,000 volunteer is a pioneer in the area of cancer prevention and invested $800,000 to help underwrite projects in environmental research. Among other things, this investment included the establishment of a clearinghouse on carcinogens or cancer-causing substances, which will enable the society to readily retrieve information on substances entering our environment and sort out those with a true cancer-causing potential.

Petrillo also underlined that the Illinois division of the society plays a prominent role in other cancer research, as Illinois alone has more than $3 million of grants in effect in laboratories and institutions throughout the state.

Such efforts in Illinois and throughout the country have brought many scientists to say that these are the most exciting times that the cancer effort has ever known, and the momentum of new discoveries is bringing us closer every day toward our goal of preventing cancer and reducing its effects.

"To sustain this momentum, we need the help of everyone in town. For those who have not yet contributed to the Cancer Society's Crusade, please give careful thought to how an investment on your part can make great dividends to you and your family now and in the future," Petrillo concluded.

This kind of research among human populations is called epidemiological research and complements the research being conducted by scientists in laboratories," Petrillo said.

MAN BADLY BEATEN ON CENTER STREET

R. K. Thomas, 22, of 2703b Center St. was beaten about the head and neck with a board and then was kicked in the head at 11 p.m. Monday near this apartment. He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center with head injuries and ten severe lacerations.

Several persons questioned by police gave differing accounts. It was verified that someone had hit and dented a two-door auto parked in the 2600 block of Center.

DEFERS JUDGMENT

David E. Canada, 27, Collinsville, charged on March 31 with possession of 30 to 499 grams of cannabis in Granite City, has been listed for two years of Law 710 probation and a $1,000 fine plus $100 costs, but the judgment has been deferred by Circuit Judge Philip J. Rarick.

CHIEF CHARGE FILED AGAINST GC MAN, 19

Kenneth D. Dunham, 19, of 2804 Edwards St., was charged by Granite City police at the Madison County jail at 2 p.m. Tuesday with theft. The police had investigated the June 24 case of two bank envelopes containing deposits totaling $1,192 from an office at 606p Records, 3675E Nantuxi Road.

Dunham was taken into custody in Granite City early this week on a 1982 warrant alleging petty theft and a 1981 property damage warrant. In a court hearing here at 2 p.m. Monday, he pleaded innocent to petty theft and was ordered transferred to the county jail in lieu of a $2,500 bond. He then was sentenced to three days in jail for contempt in the property damage case.

GRANITE CITY BANK

Q. I realize the amount of personal debt that one is able to carry is a highly individual thing, but is there a rule of thumb for personal debt under current economic conditions?

A. You are correct. Personal debt is an individual matter, and it would be highly unfair to lump everyone together under a general rule. And financial advisers are saying that it makes far more sense to look at the individual's ability to pay rather than judge indebtedness as a whole. It is suggested that no more than 20 percent of after tax income should go to repayments on debt, excluding the cost of a mortgage, the cost of housing, mortgage, insurance, taxes, etc. — is added in the figure shouldn't be any more than 50 percent, and that may be a little on the liberal side.

Rehire 3 teachers; retirements

Three more Granite City teachers, who have been honorably dismissed this spring due to staff cutbacks were employed this week for the 1982-83 school year.

They are: Margaret Anne Lyons, as a music teacher; Donald L. Davinroy, as a North High business education teacher; and Elaine Parish, as an Emerson resource teacher.

Paul W. Kratz and Dorothy M. Hanson plan to retire as teachers in the Granite City district a year from now, June 3, 1983. It was announced at Monday night's Board of Education meeting.

Kratz is a health teacher at Grigsby Junior High School and Miss Hanson teaches social studies at Coolidge Junior High School.

Also planning to conclude her teaching a year from now is Mrs. Eunice Witter, a Grigsby home economics teacher.

Retiring two years from the present, in June 1984, will be William Watson, a Prather Junior High mathematics teacher.

John A. Doroughazi is concluding his work as a South High custodian this summer.

An exploratory leave of absence is being given for the 1982-83 year to Mrs. Jean Zotti, resource teacher at Emerson and Wilson grade schools.

The present leave of absence of Mayme Schaeffer, a vocal music teacher, is being extended to include 1982-83. The board approved one day of training during 1982-83 for each of 24 vocational education teachers, under a grant which will cover the cost of substitute teachers.

The teachers will visit businesses, industries and other teaching institutions to study updated techniques and equipment, talk with employers about what is expected of new employees, and carry ideas back to the school district to aid in helping students prepare for vocational careers.

Thomas Holloway, director of vocational and career education, will attend a meeting of the national council of local vocational administrators Sept. 28-30 in Nashville, Tenn.

Allen Kennedy, a South High assistant principal, will attend military educational orientation Aug. 9-12 in Charleston, S.C.

Ten Granite City teachers will spend five days each to develop a curriculum for accelerated sections of the honors program in biology, civics, world history, American literature and junior honors English.

Substitutes will be hired for them and also for ten teachers who will devote three days each to develop a curriculum for the seminar components of the honors program. Included will be microcomputers, music appreciation, theater appreciation, vocabulary seminar sessions and counseling seminar classes.

To develop a curriculum for the junior high literature classes, eight teachers will participate for five days during the 1982-83 year. Substitute teachers will handle the classrooms.

Warren Collins, administrative assistant for instructional services, told the board that he has an application for a TenCo (ten-county) educational grant for curriculum development.

"The grant is intended to provide substitute personnel for the teachers participating in the grant," he said.

"It is intended that these objectives will be accomplished by staff members during regular school days in the early part of the year. The board has approved this request to the amount of $4,300. Local funds will not exceed $816.

"District funds are necessary due to the grant's maximum of $35 per day for substitutes and our current substitute pay of $41.80 per day.

"The honors program is scheduled for implementation in the 1982-83 year, and the content development and coordination are needed for the success of this program. The junior high literature revision is also a high-priority study."

A longer list of curriculum workshops had been proposed for the summer of 1982 but failed to obtain board approval. The board had reviewed the school district's finances and concluded that its borrowing to meet operating costs may reach $4,500,000 by August and their parents. Groups of students and their parents are scheduled throughout the month of June and July for one of 13 orientation sessions.

A staff of 20 university students and 12 teachers members worked with the students. Six additional university students worked directly with the parents.

Miss Miller, a graduate of Granite City High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller, 3904 Nameoki Rd. She is planning to major in fashion merchandising at Southeast Missouri State.

Common sense needed to avoid fireworks injuries

The Fourth of July holiday should be a time for celebrating, not crying. A time for joy, not fear.

Unfortunately, the Press-Record's next issue, Tuesday July 6, is likely to carry stories of children, and possibly adults, who suffered serious injuries during the holiday period from fireworks. Seldom a year goes by when our reporters do not have to write the sad news from fire networks that went astray or senseless injuries from youths throwing firecrackers into crowds at the public fireworks display.

Frankly, fireworks may be illegal in Illinois, but they are so easily available just across the river that a large percentage of the population will have them by the holiday and it is impossible for the police to pick up everyone using fireworks. There aren't enough jail cells or enough courts to handle the workload.

The police can only concentrate on the more blatant offenders and tell the others to put their fireworks away. Therefore, the law designed to protect Illinois residents from injuries due to fireworks just doesn't work well here.

We have mixed feelings about laws designed to protect people from themselves. Such legislation seldom works, as was witnessed by prohibition.

However, some abuse of freedom are just too dangerous to ignore. We have been seriously concerned in recent years about youths throwing firecrackers into crowds at Wilson Park during the carnival and public fireworks. Police should patrol the area and arrest and prosecute those who endanger the sight, hearing and health of others at the celebration.

Parents should not provide their children with fireworks which they can take to the park. If a parent wants to violate the law and buy fireworks for a youth, at least keep them hidden until after the public fireworks display and then bring them out for use that night only.

Fourth of July fireworks may become a thing of the past in the near future, if people do not begin using common sense. We have seen persons firing shotguns, rifles and pistols into the air to celebrate. Bullets and pellets which land on someone could sure put an end to the victim's celebration.

Many of the fireworks which fly in many directions should be considered too dangerous to use. We have seen them fly directions other than intended, endangering persons nearby.

If fireworks are an important part of your Independence Day celebration, we urge you to use common sense. Stick to small firecrackers, sparklers, snakes and other safe and sane items. Use them safely.

Also, be a good neighbor. Do not use fireworks for three days before and two days after the Fourth. Do not fire screaming rockets outside neighbor's windows at 2 a.m. Do not endanger everyone around by firing shotguns into the air.

We can only plead for some courtesy and common sense before the holiday. After the holiday, we can begin writing the news of the injured because others did not heed the plea.

Car and van pools good for commuters and America

With gasoline prices now nearing their previous peak levels—and automotive prices not exactly small, either—it makes sense for as many motorists as possible to join car pools and van pools to reduce their vehicle use and their fuel consumption.

Special attention is being given to the topic this week by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and other groups that have been encouraging pooling of rides to work and school.

Some progress has been made in increasing the number of auto pools in this metropolitan area, and the stage is set for even greater gains as more commuters become aware of the advantages of ride-sharing.

The chief benefit is less wear and tear on cars, tires, engines and pocketbooks. Other dividends include reduced traffic congestion, less air pollution, and partial easing of the nation's energy inadequacy.

This week's "pool days" are being sponsored by the Gateway Council, Madison County Van Pool Services and St. Louis County Van Pool Services. The occasion coincides with the posting of additional car pool signs along major highways.

The signs invite the commuting public to consider joining a pool. The telephone numbers for information are 621-RIDE in Missouri and 874-RIDE in Illinois. Free lists are being provided, showing the names of other interested commuters who live and work near an individual.

A regionwide ride-sharing program has been developed by the Gateway Council and the project is being given a significant boost by such groups as the Madison County Transit District. Among other advantages, vans are being made available to drivers willing to include neighbors in their travel to and from industries or universities.

Those with some interest in the van plan may call 692-4351 in Madison County or 314-99-3210 in St. Louis County.

Ride-sharing coordinators are continuing to contact employers and encourage them to participate in the campaign, which is the average number of riders per vehicle.

The key to success of the effort continues to be the commuter. Through pooling, he or she can avoid a dramatic, immediate decrease in travel costs.

Top officials of A. O. Smith Corp. and the International Boiler-makers Union will meet at 1 p.m. tomorrow, to discuss reopening the local auto frame manufacturing plant which was closed by the firm at 3:30 p.m. last Thursday. Roy A. Dingman, vice-president of the company in charge of industrial relations, was contacted at Milwaukee, the home office of the firm, and told the Press-Record this morning that no decision has yet been made on reopening the local plant. He confirmed that tools for 1958 Chevrolet frames, which had been stored at the old Nesco plant here, were trucked to Milwaukee last Friday. The firm is considering permanently closing the plant which was shut down last Thursday because of "sit-downs and slowdowns" by members of Boiler-makers Local 575.

Thoughts on Independence

To the Editor:

This Independence Day, if you have children, gather them around a table and explain what the day is all about. If there is a ceremony in your town, take them to it. For small children, you might explain it this way:

We live in a wonderful and beautiful land and we are a free people. You don't understand now what it means to be free because you've never been unfree. When you get older, you will understand that it means you can make your own decisions about how to live your life without a government telling you what those decisions should be.

Most people on our planet today are not free. For most of the years in the past, most people have not been free. That's why it's so special to be an American. A long time ago, some Americans fought a war to make us free and since then, many other Americans have fought other wars to keep us free.

Peace is a great blessing and it is good and right to love other people. But because you do love people, you sometimes have to fight when those you love are threatened. War is a terrible thing, but a wise man once said "there are some things worse than war, and the best of all come with defeat!"

In our country, the people who fight are members of the armed forces—soldiers, sailors, airmen, Marines and coast guardsmen. They are good and brave people. The best because they stand willing to die to protect you and your family from any foreign army which might want to harm you or make you a slave. A great teacher once said there is no greater love than that of a man who will give his life for another.

Independence Day is a day for remembering all of those who demonstrated that kind of love—at the time of our Revolutionary War and during the 206 years of our history as an independent nation. They were people just like us. They were young, full of hopes and dreams. They were people who loved peace, but when the threat came, they had the courage and the integrity to face it.

There are so many of them. More than a million. Some lie at the bottom of the seas, entombed in ships or planes which were buried in foreign soil, but every single one of them deserves to be remembered with love and respect because all that we are and have today is possible because of them.

They left us not only a free country, but also an example of a human being at his best: brave, determined, disciplined, but also compassionate.

Sometimes you will hear people tell you that it is never right to fight, but they are wrong. It is impossible to love someone and to stand aside and let perish. People who are willing to do that are false lovers and are in fact selfish, self-centered and cowardly.

We must do more than just remember our Founding Fathers. With freedom come responsibilities. One of those is to preserve and to protect what those patriotic, Early Americans died for. You see, if we lose what they died to keep, then we will have betrayed them and turned their deaths into a wasted sacrifice.

To the Editor:

As one of many McKinley Bridge Bi-State riders, I would like to complain about the sidewalk sales the merchants on 19th Street have every few weeks. The street is blocked off from State to Cleveland with no notice of change of route of buses.

I work at St. Elizabeth Medical Center four days a week as a volunteer, riding to and from the hospital on the bus. Thursday, I asked a bus driver on East Granite bus to call the Bi-State office to inquire how the McKinley Bridge bus was re-routed and he informed me it was over 18th Street.

I stood in the hot sun for over an hour, at 18th and Edison Avenue—No bus.

I then walked over to Nidringhaus and Cleveland, where the bus turns from 18th, and after another half hour, it arrived, coming to Nidringhaus Avenue. The bus drivers are not familiar with the street names and some are new drivers and have to be directed where to Hospital growth requires new ideas

Through the use of modern, inventive and new approaches, such as the plan to start outpatient facilities in Edwardsville, St. Elizabeth Medical Center has managed to remain "probably the only growing institution today in Granite City, Madison and Venice," Attorney Leo Konzen of the board of directors of the medical center told Granite City Optimists Thursday.

Konzen's comments were made as he introduced Gieve Hunter, vice president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, to the Optimists. Hunter was invited to discuss possible uses for a 30-acre tract of land the medical center has purchased on Route 157 at University Drive near Home Nursery in Edwardsville.

Konzen said that Hunter is well qualified for his job. "It takes young men well trained and who have real judgment about them to steer the center's growth," he said, adding that with today's federal and state regulations, particularly the Medicare requirements, "the problem is to remain flexible."

One of the innovative approaches the medical center has taken, creation of a profit-making organization within the medical center administration, will play an important role in development of the Edwardsville site, the speakers said.

Hunter explained that any facility constructed in Edwardsville is likely to be constructed by Professional Management & Marketing Services, which is the profit-making arm of St. Elizabeth Medical Center. This would enable the new facilities to operate with financial independence, without having to share the burden of paying its portion of the center's operating costs.

Under Medicare regulations, such independence would be impossible if new facilities are created under the not-for-profit St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

It is always wrong to betray people who love you.

Another responsibility we have is to learn the history of our country and to show the same diligence and courage in our civic work as they did in their military duty. We have a responsibility to prepare ourselves to do this and to take a turn on the watch when we are needed.

Americans are known the world over as a people who are idealistic. We have always fought for ideals, not for kings or lords. We are a noble nation and on Independence Day, we remember and honor the names of all the Founders of our country and the men who died to make us free!

Sales interfered with buses

To the Editor:

As one of many McKinley Bridge Bi-State riders, I would like to complain about the sidewalk sales the merchants on 19th Street have every few weeks. The street is blocked off from State to Cleveland with no notice of change of route of buses.

I work at St. Elizabeth Medical Center four days a week as a volunteer, riding to and from the hospital on the bus. Thursday, I asked a bus driver on East Granite bus to call the Bi-State office to inquire how the McKinley Bridge bus was re-routed and he informed me it was over 18th Street.

I stood in the hot sun for over an hour, at 18th and Edison Avenue—No bus.

I then walked over to Nidringhaus and Cleveland, where the bus turns from 18th, and after another half hour, it arrived, coming to Nidringhaus Avenue. The bus drivers are not familiar with the street names and some are new drivers and have to be directed where to organization, Konzen later explained. Medicare requires all not-for-profit operations at St. Elizabeth to pay their fair share of such things as the new $900,000 CAT Scanner, the medical center plans to purchase.

Konzen said that profits made by PM&MS remain within the medical center and "roll over" to be used for such expensive equipment. The profit-making organization also is used for laboratory operations at the medical center so doctors contracting for laboratory work do not have to be assessed a portion of the cost of hospital equipment when they are charged for the work.

He said blood testing, for example, would cost about twice as much under the not-for-profit organization than under the profit-making organization, because of current federal rules which would assess a portion of the cost of the center's debts and expenses to the laboratory department.

PM&MS has been important in making offices available to doctors in the Community Medical Arts Center, which is connected to the medical center, Konzen noted.

Plans for the Edwardsville facility have not been finalized. Hunter stressed at the meeting. He said studies have shown a need for additional medical care in the Edwardsville area and an Edwardsville citizens committee studying the matter has indicated that the Edwardsville area would welcome St. Elizabeth services there.

Hunter stressed that there will be no inpatient beds at the Edwardsville site. "The area cannot support another hospital," he stated.

Among the needs which the medical center hopes to meet in Edwardsville is the need for an ambulatory care clinic, which would treat outpatients with injuries. More serious cases would be immediately transferred to Granite City, he said.

Another need which may be filled is the need for a "free-standing chemical dependency recovery unit," he said.

Currently, there are 20 beds in St. Elizabeth's chemical dependency unit, but studies show that 100 beds are needed in the Madison-St. Clair counties area.

Also under study is a new concept of caring for the elderly, called "Lifecare." He explained that Lifecare would be a retirement community in which elderly persons able to care for themselves could purchase apartments in a complex and could rely on the complex for meals, light housekeeping, security and other matters.

The apartment complex would be adjacent to a nursing home where the residents could move if additional care is required.

The present holding company of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, the Sisters of Divine Providence, would be responsible for operating both facilities, Hunter noted.

As for future expansion of the Granite City facility, Hunter said, most changes will be within the existing facilities. "I think we've grown to optimum size," he indicated. As with the Oncology Unit now being refurbished for cancer patients, most changes are likely to be changes in the use of space and remodeling for new programs with minimum structural change.

Hunter contended that St. Elizabeth Medical Center has overcome a poor image it had as a small town primary care facility and is beginning to be recognized area-wide as a major institution with primary and secondary care and the latest modern equipment.

At least he hopes that will be shown when results of a survey now underway are available. The survey began Wednesday, asking area residents how they feel about St. Elizabeth Medical Center, its facilities, its people and its services.

Social Security decisions urgent

To the Editor:

The Social Security system will survive its financing crisis. It will not go broke. No administration and no Congress would ever let that happen. That is how important Social Security is to our national and personal economies.

That is a fact. But there are a lot of facts that the 115 million workers paying hard-earned tax dollars into the system and 60 million people who are getting benefits out of it don't know.

For example, the Social Security trust fund is not new. It has been there since the early 1970s, when the system first started paying out more in benefits than it was taking in.

Right now, the biggest Social Security trust fund—the Retirement and Survivors fund—is spending about $30,000 more every minute than it is coming in. The three funds combined are losing money at a rate of about $17,000 a minute. Those losses will keep on mounting until Congress acts to get the system back into balance with the economy that supports it.

No one has paid tens of thousands of dollars into Social Security. In fact, a worker who started paying the maximum tax into Social Security in 1937 and retired last year paid only a little over $14,700.

That worker will receive every penny of the $14,700 in 19 months. And if that worker has a spouse who never worked, the return will take only 13 months.

Social Security was never designed to provide for the needs of a middle income level at retirement. Instead, the system was meant to provide about one-third of a worker's pre-retirement earnings.

If a worker wanted to have more than one-third of pre-retirement wages in retirement income, he or she was expected to put together through private pensions and personal savings—the other two legs of the three-legged stool we should all have in our retirement years.

That's the way it was intended from the start. That's the way the system was always financed until Congress let the benefit structure start rising too fast in the 1960s and 1970s.

This rise led Congress to enact the largest peacetime tax increase in history in the 1977 Social Security amendments which also cut future benefits—for those born after 1916—by up to 25 percent.

But even the 1977 amendments weren't enough to ensure either the short-range or long-range viability of the system. The crisis is still with us.

The stage for the great Social Security debate is now the National Commission on Social Security Reform.

That commission is under a mandate to look at the options and issues, and to recommend to the nation and to Congress what action needs to be taken to keep the system from going broke.

We can expect the commission and Congress to focus on several key areas in the months to come.

First, on ways to encourage more workers to stay in the workforce beyond the traditional retirement age of 65, and the "early retirement" age of 62.

Again, it's the numbers that make up the facts of life of the system that will all but force Congress in that direction. We have fewer and fewer workers in relation to beneficiaries—and more and more people are living longer and longer.

Second, the commission and Congress will be taking a hard look at whether and how to slow down the rate of growth in the basic benefit structure to ensure that it stays out of balance with the tax structure that pays for it.

Third, we need to take a close look at the loopholes and abuses that Congress's own auditors say have made the disability insurance program too open to fraud. Congress has already mandated that we closely review every disability case both new ones and those already on the rolls.

What we are finding in these reviews confirms our worst fears: there are many people collecting benefits who simply don't belong on the rolls.

Fourth, we also need to take a hard look at those Social Security benefits that could be funded under other programs that have been in place since Social Security began.

The president's charge to the commission was clear: "Look at the loopholes and abuses. We need a fair solution—a bipartisan plan that will generate bipartisan support in Congress and, more importantly, among the American people."

Most members of Congress understand the reality of the facts—and the enormity of the problem we as a nation face.

The great debate is not over whether the system will survive; it will. Rather, the "bottom line" issue in that debate is: how we, as a society, will pay for it.

Glen Carbon defeats Tri-City in hurler fiasco

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Glen Carbon American Legion baseball team played the Tri-City American Legion team Tuesday night in a most interesting game at the Granite City High School North's field. Statistically, it was a mess with 23 walks and a mere four strikeouts, only one of which was called Glen Carbon finally came out ahead, 12-7, with only five hits to Tri-City's seven after 5½ innings.

There was some fear the game would be called because of darkness. Indeed, it took almost three hours to complete five innings of what was undoubtedly the most chaotic baseball game ever played in the history of Granite City athletics.

Albert Yount, Tri-City coach, did not want to talk about the game after it was over. His response was expected after he went through four pitchers in an attempt to just get out of various innings. Tri-City pitchers totaled 11 of the walks and Glen Carbon's two pitchers gave up the other 12.

The umpire had a great deal to do with the monumental base on balls total. Strikes were those balls cutting the plate directly in half with no room for outside pitches even if they nicked the corners. It seemed the umpire thought he was calling a professional baseball game. "We had this umpire when we played Cahokia and there were 30 walks in that game. I heard from another umpire that this guy should have retired 15 years ago," Yount said. He was not smiling.

Even though he more than partly blamed the umpire, Yount added, "Glen Carbon hit more squarely than we did."

This was true, but it must be mentioned that few batters from either team were even swinging at the ball after the second inning.

Tri-City took an early lead with one run in the first. It appeared as if Glen Carbon was going to drop another game.

The picture changed when Glen Carbon came into its half of the second. Tri-City was up, 3-0.

Usually, Glen Carbon has at least one bad inning, replete with errors. Tuesday night, however, Tri-City had the rotten inning.

Mike Eaves walked. Vince Mitchell walked. Scott Corey singled to leftfield. The trouble started for Tri-City when left fielder Darryl Harris tried to throw home. He missed hugely and Eaves was safe. Shortstop Rick Daily gave Brian Levin first on a bad throw. Daily's throw also allowed Mitchell to score. Corey crossed when center fielder Rick Buer made a bad throw to first on a single grander by Brian Levin.

It was not all success for Glen Carbon, however. Mike Sullivan hit a ground ball to third and Danny Patterson forced Levin out. Sullivan should have had plenty of time to get to first, but he made no attempt to beat the throw and jogged into the second out of a double play that should not have been. Sullivan watched the remainder of the game.

If the third was a big inning for Glen Carbon, the fourth was the clincher.

Pitcher Sam Tate walked. Brian Corey singled to left. Then, Carl Leumann laid down a sacrifice bunt between the mound and the first baseline that brought "Ahs" from the spectators. Greg Beeler walked. Mike Eaves was hit by a pitch to give him first and bring Tate home. Mitchell walked and Scott Corey reached on a fielder's choice that stopped Mitchell at second. Levin, not to be outdone by all those before him, walked.

Yount put Danny Patterson on the mound. He promptly walked three of the next four batters, bringing in two more runs, allowed Brian Corey a single and threw a wild pitch to score Tate. When it was all over, Glen Carbon had scored six runs to take a 12-5 lead. Tri-City had been hanging on with a 5-5 record before the game. The win brought Glen Carbon's record to 2-9. Larry Corey, Glen Carbon coach, was all smiles after the game.

"The umpire had a narrow strike zone," he said when asked if he attributed all the walks to the umpire. With characteristic good grace, he refused to say more or blame the umpire.

Instead, he was happy that Glen Carbon had defeated Tri-City. In a previous game, Tri-City had won, 14-2. "They didn't throw strikes and we got a few hits. Although we really didn't have many chances," he said.

"At least the umpire was consistent for both teams."

SERMON ON THE MOUND. Tri-City American Legion players confer about pitching problems Tuesday night. Apparently, catcher Darren DePew and George Jarvis, who was the third relief pitcher, found something to laugh about. It was probably the last laugh as Tri-City lost to Glen Carbon 12-6. Pictured are DePew, Jarvis, Albert Yount, Tri-City coach (with his back to the camera), and George Diak, who came in as the first relief pitcher and eventually wound up playing first when Jarvis took over on the mound.

Paddler swimmers, divers grab third win

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Paddlers' swim and dive teams both won Tuesday night in competition against the Dorchester club in Belleville. Paddlers' divers won, 39-21, and the swimmers routed the opposition, 474-125, winning nearly every event and setting 11 new records.

"We had more competition last night (than the meet two weeks ago against Sunset Hills of Edwardsville). We did pretty well," Gayle McCormick, Paddlers' diving coach said.

Jenny Baker, who joined the diving team only two weeks ago after the first meet, placed first in the girls 10 and under division. Miss Baker, who is 7 years old has been practicing with the team for only about a week, but she has been diving on her own, said Mrs. McCormick.

Heather Crane, who placed first in the 11 and 12 girls' category, also dove well Tuesday night. "Real pretty,"

Mrs. McCormick said of Miss Crane. The divers are starting to work out their kinks, she said, "as far as the optional dives go." The required dives still need work. "Panic sets in about two weeks before the championships," she said.

Mrs. McCormick also added that the swim team did very well except Dorchester had only about 35 swimmers. The meet, however, did give the swimmers the opportunity to improve times.

Winners in diving competition other than Miss Baker and Miss Crane were: Eleven and 12 boys: Mike McCormick, second place and Tim Voyles, third place.

Wrestlers fall in qualifier

Granite City recently qualified eight wrestlers for the state freestyle wrestling tournament June 26. Three qualifiers were taken in each weight class. None of the Granite City wrestlers, however, survived the state tournament long enough to qualify for the national tournament.

Those qualifying for state competition from Granite City were the following: Colin Davis, of Granite City High School North, 114, second; Mark Whitaker, also of North, 143, first; Rodney Unger, North, 143, second; Bruce Widel, North, 165, second; John Frangoulis, of Granite City High School South, 191, second; John Morris, North, 191, first; Dave Brown, South, 191, third, and Doug Graham, South, heavyweight, second.

"Granite City had more wrestlers qualifying than from any other district," said Walt Whitaker, Granite City High School North wrestling coach. Granite City's district includes the southern portion of Illinois south of Springfield.

The Illinois Wrestling Federation held a district freestyle tournament on June 19 for the purpose of qualifying for the state tourney. Winners of this tournament qualified to compete in the state competition.

Place winners at the state tournament are eligible to compete at the National Federation Tournament at the University of Iowa this month.

Freestyle and Greco Roman Wrestling are the styles that are used in the Olympic Games.

Bethalto hands junior legionnaires loss

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Junior American Legion baseball coach Jeff Parker is looking for an incentive — an incentive that will lift his team out of the doldrums to their first victory. Monday evening, Bethalto handed the juniors their sixth loss in as many outings this year 5-1.

"It's the same old story," Parker began. "The errors killed us. Our hitting hasn't been all it could be," Parker said.

It was a lean evening offensively for the juniors. They managed five hits in the contest, two less than Bethalto. For a while, it appeared that Bethalto's pitcher, Mike Kirby, was on track towards his first no-hitter. Granite City was hitless for two and two-thirds innings before John Conkovich finally registered the first Granite City hit.

"We had a problem with Bethalto's pitcher tonight," Parker said. "He throws a lot of junk, our kids were out in front of (his pitches) all night," Parker said.

Roger Smith, Bethalto's coach, referred to Kirby differently.

"Kirby's not a fast ball pitcher," Smith said. "We like to think of him as a finesse pitcher," Smith said. Whatever, Kirby antagonized Granite City with his slow curve ball, striking out six. The victory was Kirby's first, he's 1-2. Mark Vanyo, who went the distance for Granite City, was tagged for the loss.

Bethalto jumped out in front in the first inning, as the first batter of the game walked on four pitches, stole second, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on two-out single to left field. Bethalto made scoring look easy in the first inning, but it wasn't again until the fifth inning that Bethalto managed another tally.

In that inning, Bethalto's Gary Bost singled to left field, an advanced to second when a pick off attempt by Vanyo got by Granite City first baseman Mike Houston. Bost advanced to third when Bethalto's Mike Cairns grounded to Brent Cook, and then scored on Jeff Smith's single.

Bethalto picked up their second run of the inning to move ahead 3-0 when Cairns reached home on a passed ball. Bethalto added another run in their half of the sixth inning when lead off batter Brian Kasting beat out and in-field single down the third base line. Kasting stole second, reached third and home on two passed balls. Granite City averted the shut out in the sixth inning when lead off hitter Houston tripled to right-center field. Designated Pat Cahney picked up an RBI, scoring Houston with a one-bagger.

In the seventh inning, Bethalto managed their final run as Smith picked up his second hit of the evening. Following a stolen base and a Granite City error, Smith scored when a grounder eluded Granite City shortstop Cook.

This evening, the juniors will travel to Highland for a double header. Play begins at 6 p.m.

E. Alton Stags down Civics in baseball thriller

STAR PITCHER. Southwestern Illinois Civics starting pitcher, Tom Kloekner, lets one go against the East Alton Stags Tuesday night. The Civics played the Stags under the lights at the Granite City High School South field which added to the "starry" effect the camera caught. The Civics lost, 5-3, in a game that has been compared to at least class AA baseball as more players than Kloekner starred in the contest.

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record
This area of Southwestern Illinois (Madison and St. Clair counties) is the second most populous section of the state and, in most parts of the United States, would very likely support at least a Double A pro-baseball team. And, might even support an AAA club.

But, with the highly popular St. Louis Cardinals dominating the area, it isn't hard to understand why minor league baseball hasn't found a home hereabouts.

But, Tuesday night at Granite City South High's outstanding baseball field, a goodly number of local fans watched a game between the East Alton Stags and the Southwestern Illinois Civics which compared, in most aspects, to at least a AA game.

The Stags outlasted the Civics, 5-3, but the result was always in doubt right down to the final out in the ninth frame after Tim Gable, an Edwardsville native, tripped after one out.

The Stags' relief hurler, Ralph Jackson, did what few pitchers have accomplished this season: he fanned the hard-hitting Bill Stolle for the second out. Stolle, who starred four years for SIUE, was three-for-five in the game and has now hit safely in the Civics' last eight games and, in the process, he has upped his hitting to an even .400 average.

A killing error on a routine grounder at shortstop after two were out in the top of the second, allowed the Stags to grab a 3-0 lead and led to the second (now 2-2) loss for the Civics' lanky (6-5) Tom Kloekner.

Former Cleveland Indians' property, Dave Warnecke, hurled the first five innings for the Stags and was credited with the victory. He fanned five Civics while Kloekner was whiffing nine until relieved by southpaw Stan Ostebur in the fifth after one out. The stylish Ostebur gave up just one harmless single in the four and one-third innings he worked.

In the sixth frame, the Civics exploded for three runs and cut the Stags' lead to two runs, 5-3.

The big blow for the Civics in that rally came off the bat of their rugged and young catcher, Keith Hoskinson, who delivered his second homer in two games as he blasted a three-two pitch by Warnecke over the center-field fence and, who knows, might still be going, perhaps in orbit.

Darrel Weltrend led off for the Civics in the sixth, with a walk. Player-Manager, Bobby Hughes, blasted a screaming line drive to left field that many thought should have been caught but went for an error. And, then Hoskinson delivered his mighty blast. In the process, the University of Kansas freshman (now a sophomore) raised his batting average to .360.

The loss dropped the Civics' record to 12-10, while the Stags are now 11-8.

Ralph Jackson had relieved on the mound for the Stags in the sixth and was the victim of Hoskinson's four-bagger, but he was tough in the clutch thereafter, allowing just three more hits including the already mentioned triple by Gable in the ninth.

Now, with 21 games played, the Civics' hopes of advancing to the National Baseball Congress tournament in Wichita, Kans., early in August are in grave doubt unless they start winning. Their next big test is this coming Saturday night when the Arkansas state champions, Conway County, come calling at Hoppe Park in Edwardsville for a twinnit starting at 6 p.m.

H-P edges Civics

The Southwestern Illinois Civics fell to the Highland-Pierron Merchants, 9-8, in 10 innings last night at the Merchants' field.

It was the first time in seven years that the Civics lost to the Merchants, two homers, one in the first and one in the 10th, cost the Civics the ballgame. With one out, Rich Lambert hit what looked to be a routine fly ball, but the Civics' Jim Greenwald sent himself against the fence to make the catch and his spike got caught. He twisted his ankle in the fence and could not get loose. The result was a sore ankle for Greenwald and a one-run, in-the-park homer for the Merchants.

In the 10th, Frank Silvilagon led off and hit a homer to right center off a pitch from Jerry Denti, who relieved starting pitcher Jeff Gass in the fifth.

The Civics had 13 hits, one of which was a solo homerun by Rusty Hillecamp in the fourth.

The next Civics' game is Saturday against Conway County, the Arkansas state champs at Hoppe Field. Game time is 6 p.m.

Jr. Legion falls to Edwardsville

It could have turned out differently, but it didn't.

Tuesday evening, at Granite City North's junior varsity baseball diamond, the Edwardsville Junior American Legionnaires defeated Granite City of the North (St. Louis) County League 7-4.

Granite City coach, David Coakley, took the loss lightly.

"I thought we might get beat tonight," Coakley said. "I started some runners up, I think he's afraid of hitting them," he said.

Granite City's attempt to match Edwardsville's third inning tally came up short. Granite City managed one run when Tom Adamiis singled and stole second.

James Moad advanced Adamiis to third when he grounded out to Edwardsville's Dave Lange. Adamiis scored on designated hitter Dan Witsell's single in left field, but Witsell was picked off at second trying to stretch his single into a double.

Edwardsville equalized Granite City's third inning run in the fourth inning as Sisson reached on an error when Granite City shortstop Eric Goff booted the ball. Sisson advanced to second, and then to third on a fly ball to deep right field.

Edwardsville's third inning was by far their most productive. Following Granite City pitcher Jim Fletcher's strike out of lead off batter Rod Strohmeyer, Edwardsville exploded, tagging the hurler for five of their 10 hits of the game. Those hits were enough to score four runs and give Edwardsville a 4-1 lead.

"Jim's a good pitcher, but he gets rattled a little easier than most," Coakley said. "He's got a good curve and a fastball, but he needs some work on holding baserunners to the base."

Coakley said, "He doesn't like to back a runner up. I think he's afraid of hitting them," he said.

Edwardsville High School standout

Todd Hansel batted in Sisson as he grounded to Granite City's Kevin Daum. Daum couldn't find the handle on the ball, enabling Hansel to scamper to first, scoring Sisson.

In the fifth inning, Edwardsville picked up a another pair of runs on three hits. Brian Pouch spent little time on second after his lead off double as Mark Blythe immediately followed suit with a single in left field to score Pouch. Edwardsville's Bill Caldwell, who had been a terror at the plate all evening long, pitched in to tally in the sixth and rack up his third RBI of the evening.

Granite City picked up another and what turned out to be their final run, in the fifth inning.

Adamiis, the second to bat in the inning, struck out on what appeared to be a slow curve ball. The off speed pitch fooled even Edwardsville's catcher Blythe as it went back to the screen, advancing Adamiis to first on the error.

Ron Dallas, who went in for Moad, singled to deep right field, moving Adamiis to third, who later scored on a sacrifice fly to center field by Witsell.

Edwardsville's starting pitcher, David Lange was credited with the win, while Granite City's Fletcher, now 0-2, was tagged for the loss.

Granite City's next game is July 6, against Thomas Bodet at Granite City High School South's Varsity Field. Action begins at 6 p.m.

Collins signs with Eastern University

CHARLESTON — Jon Collins, the most outstanding basketball player in the St. Louis area two years ago, has announced he will enroll at Eastern Illinois University, head coach Rick Samuels announced.

Collins, a 6-4 swingman, is transferring to EIU from Northern Illinois University where he started 15 games as a freshman for the Huskies '82 NCAA tournament team which lost a first round game to Kansas State.

Collins averaged 8.5 points, scoring in double figures in 12 games and playing in all 30 NIU contests.

"Jon is an excellent shooter ... he shot well over 60 percent from the field in high school," said Samuels. "He's a strong athlete with good finesse around the basket."

"Shooting is his major asset but he's capable of a solid floor game ... I understand he played very well for Northern during its drive to the MAC tournament championship."

"Jon will sit out this upcoming season and then have sophomore eligibility commencing with the 1983-84 year."

As a prep he was named the St. Louis Globe-Democrat 1981 Player of the Year by leading the entire metro area in scoring with a 26.5 average.

He was also named to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch All-Metro Team, Chicago Sun-Times Special Mention All-State and competed for the Class AA South team in the summer all-star game.

His senior year at Cahokia, coached by Ken McBride, finished 25-2 and co-champ of the Gateway East Conference. His junior season Cahokia won the Salem Tournament upsetting 78-69 Effingham as Collins scored 20 points with 18 rebounds. He set a school record 68.1 percent field goal percentage and school records for single season scoring (715), career points (1375) and career rebounds (738).

Coin to defray Olympic games costs

One man has been standing in the way of a plan to raise $200 million for the Los Angeles and U.S. Olympic committees. It's time for Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., to step aside.

The balding, 67-year-old chairman of the House Banking subcommittee on Consumer Affairs and Coinage opposes a Senate-passed bill that would allow three companies — Occidental Petroleum, Lazard Freres and Franklin Mint — to market 17 official Olympic gold and silver alloy commemorative coins.

The consortium, known as The Coin Group, had offered at least $30 million in initial guarantees, and up to $200 million of its profits would go to the two Olympic committees to help defray the cost of the 1984 games at Los Angeles and pay for the training of athletes.

Annunzio would prefer that the money be raised by the U.S. Treasury minting one commemorative silver dollar, to sell for $20 to $25 apiece. Because he has held up the 17-coin proposal for three months, the Coin Group has withdrawn its offer to participate — although sponsors of the proposal say they can be coaxed back.

Were we more confident that the U.S. government could mint a coin and sell it profitably, we might be in Annunzio's lonely corner — almost everyone else, including the Reagan administration, past Olympic medalists, the Senate and big business opposes him. It would be preferable for the two Olympic committees to get as much of the revenue as possible.

But if the U.S. Treasury's last attempt at coin marketing is any indication — the vastly unpopular Susan B. Anthony dollar — then the Olympic subsidy effort will be in much safer hands with the Coin Group.

The Annunzio venture, which would require a start-up investment of $50 million to $100 million, also is ill-advised at a time when the Reagan administration and Congress are having difficulty reaching a budget compromise that will hold the budget deficit to $100 billion.

If no agreement is reached soon on a method to mint the commemorative coins, the Los Angeles Olympic Committee may be forced to involve a foreign country, such as Greece, to market the coins in order to raise revenue. Not only would that be an embarrassment, but it also probably would deny many fine athletes much needed and deserved financial assistance.

Let's make soccer a 'national' sport

By AL BARNES

The other night, at the East Alton versus Southwestern Illinois Civics' semi-pro battle for "bragging rights" in this area of the St. Louis metropolitan baseball community played at Granite City South's park, we had the pleasure of greeting Ed Gettemeier, a great goalkeeper for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's soccer Cougars. By the way, the Stags beat the Civics, 5-3.

We didn't get a chance to more than shake hands with Gettemeier, but it did start me thinking about this upcoming fall's collegiate soccer schedule for the Cougars. And, naturally, the hopes for another great season for Coach Bob Guelker and his Cougar Kickers.

And, too, the question of whom was going to be named Guelker's assistant to fill the gaping hole left by the resignation of Rick Benben, who incidentally, filled an equally big HOLE left when Pat McBride resigned his job as chief aid to Guelker in taking first a job as head varsity coach at Meramec Community College in St. Louis. And then, subsequently, to go on to brilliant top coaching jobs with the St. Louis Steamers and then to take over the head honcho assignment with the Kansas City Comets.

Meeting Gettemeier, who shared with Mark Downer, on an alternating game basis in goal for the Cougars for three seasons, also brought back to me another idea which has somewhat intrigued me for six or eight years. Why don't American college soccer teams adopt a rule similar to that of the pro: a quota of United States players who must be starters for Yankee eleven.

And, more at home, because I firmly believe that this section of Illinois has progressed sufficiently enough to play equally with St. Louis players, that all Illinois university and college teams be required to start, at least five native Illinois players in all their games.

If it makes sense for the pros to have a rule as they do, I maintain that the Illinois Rule has an equally weighty claim for consideration.

Year after year, the Cougars lose some outstanding players from Illinois schools, particularly from Granite City South and North and Collinsville, just to name a few. If the Illinois Rule was in effect, they would be playing for the Cougars couldn't fail to help them, at least by drawing fans who would help meet the heavy expenses of funding the sports at SIUE.

But, back to the replacement for Rick Benben, who left SIUE to regain his old side-kick Pat McBride at K.C.

The interesting thing about that speculation is this: many St. Louis soccer fans, most whom pride themselves on knowing more about the sport than say, Pete, have long maintained that Bob Guelker owes his success to his ability to pick assistants who know more about the game than he does.

And, particularly more about assaying — and recruiting — high school players in the rough in order to determine whom to sign to play for the Cougars.

When discussing the question of St. Louis prep players weighed against those from the East Side and Guelker's failure in never signing a top prospect from this area, the veteran coach's defenders invariably answer: "You can't quarrel with success" and cite his long and brilliant winning record.

Those taking the other side say "Yes, but," what would that record have been if he had picked up a Dave Fernandez or one or more of the Goldschmidt clan. They also counter by pointing out that the first half of Guelker's winning career was built at St. Louis U., when the Bills had almost a monopoly on the best soccer talent in the United States.

Those attacking Guelker's record invariably maintain that without McBride's and Benben's help since he arrived and took over at SIUE, his record may not have been illustrious or brilliant. To my mind, that is a bad argument. Because Bob Guelker did pick McBride and Benben as his assistants.

In the conclusion, since I'm parochial and highly partisan in regards to Illinois and most assuredly this section of the state, I would like to see Bob Guelker, on his own, adopt a variation of the Illinois Quota idea, but on his own time-table.

Bob Guelker's record in building American soccer and in doing so the building of collegiate soccer from largely a club sports until he came along is an and has been truly outstanding.

Personally, I wouldn't want to see his hands tied. But, on the other hand, I would dearly love to see at least some Illinois players on the Cougar squad. And, not just in token roles that they have played prior to this time.

How about it, Robert?

Rising caseload, salaries hike cost of court system

Rising caseloads, averaging almost 200,000 cases per circuit court district in Illinois, have increased costs of the state's judicial system—court salaries to additional probation officers.

Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported this week that the volume of litigation has increased steadily, particularly in the Cook circuit court, which terminated more than 3.7 million cases in calendar year 1980.

By comparison, only four downstate circuits concluded 100,000 or more cases in the same year. Those downstate circuits were: 19th Circuit, McHenry and Lake counties; 18th Circuit, DuPage; 16th Circuit, DeKalb, Kendall and Kane; and 12th Circuit, Will, Kankakee and Ingham.

Spending by judicial agencies in the last 10 years has more than tripled, climbing from $25.7 million in FY (fiscal year) 1972 to $81.6 million in FY 1981, an increase of $55.9 million.

The most significant increases were for salaries of Circuit Court and associate judges in 1975 and 1979, though such new programs as the Juvenile Court Act, plus additional probation personnel, and the Appellate defender system increased costs.

The Illinois Supreme Court, whose seven justices are elected to 10-year terms and have been paid $50,000 annually, has seen the number of appeals increase from 335 in calendar 1971 to 1,160 in 1980. The number of "full opinions" issued by the court increased slightly from 208 in 1971 to 231 in 1980.

Illinois is one of a few states which provides for appeal as a constitutional right. Appellate judges are elected to 10-year terms and have been paid $53,000 annually. The number of cases appealed from the circuit has increased by 83 percent since 1975, spiraling from 3,973 in 1976 to 6,479 in 1980, a workload gain of 2,506 cases.

The Circuit Court is the grassroots trial level where the court system begins in Illinois.

It is divided into 21 judicial districts, with circuit judges elected to six-year terms and until now paid $45,000 annually.

Associate judges are appointed to four-year terms and have been paid $45,000 annually. Circuit cases filed in calendar 1980 ranged from 33,564 in the least active circuit to 2,495,462 in Cook County, with a statewide average of 196,671 cases per circuit.

The number of cases filed per judge ranged from 8,236 in Cook County down to 2,238 in the Eighth Circuit of eight west-central Illinois counties.

Statewide, it takes an average of 35.2 months from the filing of litigation until a verdict is obtained, according to calendar 1980 figures.

CLEAN GETAWAY FOR CHARLIE'S TUXEDOS
Four three-piece tuxedos and two extra pairs of trousers were reported missing from a closet at Charlie's Restaurant, after the clothing had just come back from the cleaners.

Other items reported missing were six table skirts and $80 in cash. An employee told police the incident occurred June 8 and was being reported recently due to the insistence of the restaurant's insurance company.

Faculty commends BAC's balanced fiscal budget

The Belleville Area College Faculty Union has commended the BAC Board of Trustees and the administration for the development of a balanced budget for the coming fiscal year. At the Wednesday, June 23 meeting of the BAC board, Donald Libby, chairman of the faculty negotiations committee, said, "The faculty union wishes to commend the board and administration for maintaining sound fiscal management... We believe educational objectives will be more likely to be served by the security of a balanced budget."

Later in the meeting, the $12.5 million budget was passed by the unanimous decision of the board. The budget is balanced, in spite of projected decreases in state funding, approximately $39,000 less in 1982-83 than in 1981-82.

The largest percentage of the budget, 71 percent, is for salaries. This represents $8.9 million or a nine percent increase over last year's budget. This is the lowest amount of the college's budget to be earmarked for salaries in 11 years.

Administrative contracts and salaries also were approved for the coming year. Administrators received an average increase of 11 percent.

Pat Barosokas, board chairman, said, "The basic increase for the administration is identical to that granted to the faculty several months ago."

He also noted that individual increases vary as administrative salaries are increased by merit.

The secretarial-clerical staff of the college will be issued individual contracts for the coming year, with annual salary increases of 11.5 percent. The contracts must be returned by July 9.

A number of grant personnel were reappointed for the coming year, all based on the continuance of grants. These included employees of the Menard Correctional Center Project, the GED (General Education Development) project and the senior citizen program.

Holiday blood drive July 7

The Quad-City Area Church Women United is sponsoring a special holiday blood drive at two locations in early July. Supplies of blood for surgery and other needs traditionally run low during long holiday weekends according to Jo Ann Barnett, co-chairman of the project.

The Red Cross Blood Services requires 10 pints of blood a day to meet the needs of the area it serves. The goal set by the CWU for the three day drive is 375 pints of blood, she added.

This is a community blood drive and everyone is welcome, the co-chairman noted. Dates and locations for the drive is set for Wednesday, July 7, from 10 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. and Thursday, July 8, from 2 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave. Also on Friday, July 9, from 2 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. at Engelbert Hall, 10th Street and Washington Avenue in Madison.

SANDRA

This year was my 27th birthday. Happy Birthday to our beloved daughter. Your mother as writing your obituary for all the world to see and know that finally I can lay you to rest. Born July 4, 1955. Died Feb. 19, 1982. I know it was sad that someone kept this out of the paper, but you know darling it was not a very much. Sandy you loved your mother. We cannot understand what has happened. Such a prize from life. But God will know and he is a just God. I love you very much Sandy. So this is my tribute to you. I was so lucky to have had a daughter like you. I am very proud to have been your mother. There is an open gap, at the end of the road, thru which each must go alone. And there is a light we cannot see. When our Father claims his own. Beyond that your loved ones know happiness and rest, and there is comfort in the thought, that a loving God knows best. Very much loved and sadly missed. Your mother, father, sisters, sons, aunts, uncles, grandfathers, and all that knew you and loved you.

IN LOVING memory of MYRTLE TANKSLEY, mother and grandmother who passed away on July 4, 1981. In the graveyard softly sleeping, where the flowers gently wave. Lies the one we loved so dearly, in a silent, lonely grave. Peaceful be your sleep dear mother, it's so sweet to breathe your name. In life we loved you dearly, in death we do the same. Just one year ago you left us, how we miss you, mother dear. And remember all your kindnesses, as we drop a silent tear. You shall never be forgotten, never from memory fade, loving hearts will always linger around the grave where you are laid. — Sadly missed by Sister and Grandchildren, Sisters and Brothers. 32 7 1

IN LOVING memory of ELIA A. MITSAREFF who passed away July 1, 1980. — Sadly missed by Sister and Grandchildren, Sisters and Brothers. 32 7 1

Reese continues tradition

"You are more than welcome at Reese Drug Store," and "Filling prescriptions is the most important part of our business," have remained Reese Drug Stores' motto for over 59 years since Walter Reese founded the first Reese store in downtown Granite City.

A new Reese Drug Store at the David Connole Alpine Village mini-mall in Madison is one of seven stores in the area.

The original Niedringhaus Avenue store was established in 1923 followed by the opening of the Madison store in 1928 and another in Venice in 1930.

Other stores added to the chain included locations in Wood River, 1935; Jerseyville, Ill., 1936; and East Alton in 1946.

The Bellemeor Village Shopping Center store opened in 1954 followed four years later with the opening of a facility in Cahokia in 1958. The Cahokia store later moved to a new location in the late 70s. Another store was opened in the 1960s in O'Fallon, Ill., and a store was opened in 1977 in Highland which also moved to a new location in 1981.

The Venice store closed its doors in 1984 after 24 years. The stores in Jerseyville, East Alton and Wood River were subsequently sold.

The Reese Drug Store chain also operates the Surgical Appliances and Conventional Aids Center in the Medical Arts Building in the St. Elizabeth Medical Center complex.

Reese attended St. Louis College of Pharmacy. In 1917 he went to France as a Master Sergeant along with thousands of other men.

While in France he served with the Government Narcotic Unit. After World War II, he was connected with a New York drug store chain and he opened stores in St. Louis.

During his life, Reese served as president of Reese Drug Stores, Inc., director of the First National Bank, Treasurer of Commercial Foundry and Co., chairman of Elk's Crippled Children, commander of the American Legion Post 113, president of the Optimist Club and president of the Sportsman Club.

Reese Drug Stores acquired a reputation for courteous service. During the Depression it was a policy never to turn down anyone that needed a prescription.

Many prescriptions were filled without charge. After a damaging tornado struck Wood River, all the injured victims' prescriptions were also filled without charge.

Reese also acquired a reputation for being courteous by assisting young men through pharmacy school.

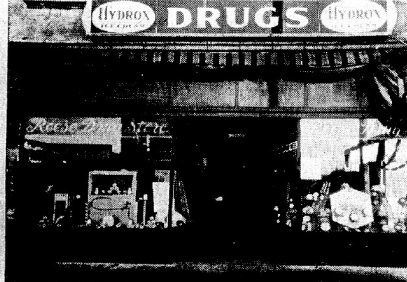

Reese wanted to give every man connected with the stores a part in the earning power of the company as the firm prospered.

"The Reese Drug Store is not a one man organization, and our managers must have ability and must not be afraid to work. They usually start working on curb trade, working at the soda fountain and then, if they so desire, we arrange to send them through a college of pharmacy," Reese once said.

The current president of Reese Drug Stores, Inc. is Mr. Reese's son, John W. Reese.

Tom Stevens, manager of the new Reese store, plans to have a grand opening on the Alpine Village mini-mall on July 17 complete with a ribbon cutting ceremony.

The new Reese store will be under the same management as the Reese located across the street at 301 Madison Avenue.

Traffic eastbound on I-270 destined for northbound I-55 (toward Springfield) is being detoured on southbound I-55-70 to Route 162 and back north on northbound I-55-70. The detour will be in effect only during daylight working hours, IDOT said. The affected ramp will be opened to all traffic by tomorrow afternoon.

Typing classes being changed to word processing

To help keep Granite City students highly skilled for work in the business field, the school district is in the process of selling the typewriters in two classrooms and equipping one of the rooms for word processing.

It was decided Monday night to acquire microcomputers for $30,391. They will be placed in use at GCHS North; if the program proves successful, additional microcomputers will be obtained for GCHS South.

A detailed discussion on the transfer was held by the board, Supt. B. J. Davis, South Principal James Dumont, North Principal Gilbert M. Decker and Thomas Holloway, director of vocational and career education.

Of the $30,391 purchase from Computer Country, $18,900 is expected to be obtained from the sale of 63 used typewriters, $9,628 from state vocational equipment funds and $1,863 from the school district's vocational budget.

There will be 21 Commodore microcomputers—20 for classroom use and one for the vocational office.

It was predicted that maintenance costs will be less than what has been spent to maintain typewriters.

Holloway related that "due to the high demand for trained word processing operators, the vocational education department is recommending purchase of microcomputers with word processing programs instead of typewriters for the 1982-83 school year."

"Radio Shack, Apple and Commodore computers were evaluated this past year by the Vocational Advisory Council, business department heads and vocational director. Although all three were good machines, the Commodore was superior for word processing."

"Bid requests were sent to 12 vendors, with four responding. One did not meet specifications in eight major areas, including memory capacity in both the computer and disk drives, speed of printers, program capabilities, screen size and the networking system, which requires two machines in order to function; these two machines could not be used by the students."

"Due to declining enrollments, two classrooms of typewriters can be sold this year instead of one. In addition, we have special vocational funding from the State Board of Education."

"We are on a seven-year replacement schedule for our classroom typewriters. Last year, the new typewriters cost $18,728 and we received $9,331 from sale of our old machines for a net cost of $9,397 from the vocational budget."

Board Secretary Robert Maxwell encouraged education of word processing at both high schools.

It was concluded that this will be done as soon as possible, following a trial period and the completion of special training by additional faculty members.

Included in the new equipment will be two dual disk drives, two printers with a capacity of 150 characters per second, a third printer, a single disk drive, a networking system with software, eight hours of teacher instruction, eight hours of repair training for a school employee and installation of all equipment.

Billy Melton, Deputy Melton praised the planning that led up to the word processing proposal. He urged approving it, but delaying the addition of another 27 microcomputers that would involve simultaneous elimination of another room of typewriters.

Holloway said the new equipment will be used not only for secretarial and clerical training, but also for college-level accounting, advanced bookkeeping courses and fourth-semester typing students.

He estimated the microcomputers will be used one class hour a day in 1982-83 and seven hours a day in 1983-84.

He estimated the microcomputers will be used one class hour a day in 1982-83 and seven hours a day in 1983-84.

Madison School Board seeks to open negotiations now

A desire by the Madison Board of Education to begin an end-of-year negotiations with the Madison teachers before the start of the school year was repeated by board members during Tuesday night's special meeting of the school board.

John Palcheff, superintendent of schools, noted that two letters have been sent to the negotiators for the teachers, asking that negotiations begin immediately. However, the teachers do not want to begin negotiations until Aug. 16, according to Palcheff.

Lengthy negotiations at that time could delay the opening of school — a situation which occurred in Granite City last fall — the Granite City coach and all over before school starts," Palcheff summarized.

In other business Tuesday night, the Madison School Board hired Richard Harmon of Edwardsville (not the Granite City coach and teacher) as a math teacher for the coming school year at Madison High School. He replaced John Barr, who retired after 34 years of service to the school district. Barr was presented a plaque during the last regular school board meeting for his many years of faithful service.

The board Tuesday night also accepted the resignation of Sharon Hargrove with regrets. She is a first grade teacher who has been with the district about seven years. Her resignation letter indicated she plans to move to Louisville, Ky., to join her husband.

The regular July 1 meeting of the board has been cancelled, Palcheff reported. The board will have only one regular July meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 15, but special meetings can be called, as necessary, he added.

Special education is being upgraded

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

Upgrading of local special education is being achieved through increased coordination, expanded psychological services and a new process for student identification, evaluation and placement, Superintendent Steven M. Balen said Monday night.

Balen is director of special education in Madison County region I, the Quad-Cities area. He and Vasil Efthymiou, administrative assistant to the Granite City school superintendent, conferred with the Granite City Board of Education and Sup. E. J. Davis on the wording of an evaluation report that is being forwarded to the state education superintendent.

Among those participating with Balen in a detailed review of the report was Board Member Thomas Mieske.

Steps being taken to achieve or enhance compliance with various state policies and goals were outlined as follows:

—Procedures will be changed to clarify the chain of command between the participating districts' special education Alternative School and a principal of the special education director, in order to achieve increased educational direction.

—With some students categorized as having more than one handicap, the faculty will be encouraged to obtain certifications in additional teaching specialties.

—Dr. Clarence R. Brooks will provide technical and consultative services to the psychological staff for the 1982-83 year.

—A consultant contract is being developed for '82-83 with Mrs. Jane Brandt, an early childhood specialist who will provide technical direction.

—Dr. Robert Wagner will help develop and implement new pre-vocational services.

—A social worker will be designated as senior pupil personnel supervisor.

—The three-district special education cooperative (Granite City, Madison and Vandalia) will formalize its procedures for yearly external evaluation of the adequacy and effectiveness of each of its programs and services.

—In-service training will be given to non-certificated personnel and those transporting handicapped children.

—A study committee will be set up to gather information and ideas from parents, teachers and administrators on the future of present trainable mentally handicapped center at St. Mark's in Venice.

—The St. Mark's facility is described as providing a favorable environment for learning, with a spacious class area and also separate locations for pre-vocational academic and self-help activities.

—The trainable group is linked to a regular high school program for lunch, physical education and assemblies. The cost of building new facilities would be high and is not justified in view of the present surplus of school space, Balen said.

—A new computer-assisted psychometric program will increase staff efficiency and output and pinpoint those children requiring re-evaluation, Balen predicted.

—Beginning in September, the special education region will conduct in-service training to increase knowledge of the evaluation process and expedite completion of individual student educational plans.

—All students enrolled in the alternate program will have a statement of their present levels of educational performance, annual goals including short-term objectives, a statement of the special and related services to be provided, and an evaluation of the extent to which the child will be able to participate in regular educational programs.

—Increased public awareness will be sought on the availability of psychiatric and other consultative services.

—Vocational components will be included in individuals' plans.

—Resource teachers are being provided in each building, and there are two teacher resource staffs at the Marshall and Webster schools to aid learning disabled pupils. Eleven instructors at junior high schools and senior high schools provide resource and instructional services. Students may remain in a regular class and receive supportive services from the resource room, or they may go to a special class for instruction in a subject area.

—Eight special vocational programs are being offered to handicapped children in addition to the regular vocational education program which are available to the handicapped.

—Occupational and physical therapy services are provided by two and two-fifths professionals and two aides; about 120 children received these services in 1981-82. Social workers provide consultative and therapy intervention for each special student whose plan calls for such service.

—As of May 1982, all three local school districts are holding annual pre-school screening of youngsters aged three, four and five years.

—Increased multi-disciplinary staff conferences are being held for recommendations and evaluations.

—A review of all children placed after September 1983 will document the efforts made to assure that testing and school placement are linguistically, racially or sexually discriminatory.

—Classes for severe and profoundly mentally impaired are being made available through the Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens.

—School programs to meet higher-incidence handicaps include early childhood, mild to moderate educable impaired, educationally handicapped, behavioral disorders, visually impaired, hearing impaired, learning disabilities, physically or health-impaired, multiple impairment and speech and language impairment.

—SUE is developing a pre-vocational program for assessment and training of the trainable mentally handicapped.

—And a contractual arrangement is being developed for 1982-83 with the Oshkosh sheltered workshop in Madison.

Haine urges fingerprint tracking unit

By JIM SCHLUETER

A machine which can use a person's fingerprints to compile his criminal history could save Madison County money and also help judges make better decisions when setting bail and prison sentences, according to county board member William Haine.

Haine, of Alton, a lawyer and the chairman of the county's legislative committee, spoke to the central services committee about the Police Fax machine last week.

He was joined by Thurl Jones, director of the court services department, and Darrel Smith, chief adult probation officer.

Haine said fingerprint records can be transmitted by the machine to the Division of Criminal Investigation in Joliet or the FBI in Washington, and a complete history can be received in 12 to 24 hours.

The machine would cost the county $4,000. He said the saving to the county would easily make up the cost of the machine by reducing the cost of acquiring information and by cutting the time that prison-bound inmates stay in the county jail.

After a man is found guilty, a sentencing hearing is needed. And if the guilty man is in the county jail, there is a lost period of time while court services come up with the guy's history," Haine said.

"If we can find the history quickly, the sentence can be determined and we can ship him off to Menard (prison) and out of the jail."

Haine said a complete history is "imperative" for judges setting bond.

Although Haine said the machine is already in the circuit clerk's budget, members of the committee were not convinced that it should be purchased.

"Just because it's in the budget doesn't mean we have to spend it," committee member Don McLean, Edwardsville, said.

"The only people that can sway me are the sheriff and the state's attorney," Maj. Ewin Knezevich, the sheriff department's director of administration, said the sheriff has told the central services committee that his department has little need for the equipment.

"Because of the expense and the little use we would put it to, it's something we're not interested in," Knezevich said. "If the court and court services want to use it, fine."

While Haine said the machine is the only one of its kind that can verify fingerprints, Knezevich said the sheriff's department uses the LEADS system which has a hookup to the Illinois secretary of state's office and the National Crime Information Center.

"We can run criminal history checks through this system," Knezevich said. "It doesn't transmit fingerprints, but it transmits documents and other facts."

The committee voted to table the matter until it hears from Chief Judge Joseph Barr, Sheriff Emil Toffani and State's Attorney Don Weber.

School budget task assigned; transfer funds

The Granite City Board of Education on Monday night designated Norman D. Owca to prepare a tentative July 1982-June 1983 budget for the school district. He is the director of finance.

The budget will be considered for board action in the late summer. With the 1981-82 fiscal year ending this week, the board authorized transfers in 53 funds, utilizing contingency and other accounts.

Sums transferred ranged from $100 to $350,000. Owca noted that the state now requires interscholastic sports, athletic, vocal music and band programs to be budgeted as interscholastic expenses rather than education costs.

Secretary Robert Maxwell suggested that, as expenditures are approved during the course of a year, the board be advised of major departures from departmental budgets. The annual budget document is a guide to the spending limit for each purpose and should be adhered to except when the board knowingly decides to exceed it, he added.

In addition to budgeting contingency allocations of $350,000 for education, $58,000 for operations and maintenance, $20,000 for transportation and $5,000 for the special education region, the district also can transfer up to 10 percent of the total budget of a fund from one account to another account within that fund if a need develops.

The board voted to establish revolving funds totaling $8,575 again in 1982-83. These are revolving accounts ranging from $25 to $500 at the 18 schools and a $5,000 account for the administrative office.

It was decided to ask the State Board of Education for a one-year extension on school remodeling work associated with the Illinois Life Safety Code.

Ronald Landman, director of buildings and grounds, said, "All items in Priority 1 and 2 which affect the safety of people in the school buildings have been completed. The extension of time is for items in Priority 3."

The Granite City Public Library was authorized to use the Nameoki School parking lot on Thursdays during the summer for the library's bookmobile.

The Webster Parent-Teacher Association is donating $1,300 toward purchase of an Apple computer system, with the difference to be paid from the Webster School activity fund.

The Johnson PTA is purchasing $500 worth of games, art supplies and supplemental instructional materials.

The school district in 1982-83 will continue to use two portable classrooms at the Logan elementary campus.

Prevailing wage rates for construction trades are to be paid by the district during the coming year.

Vadalabene praises fast action on library funds

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) Monday praised the Senate's quick passage of legislation helping to fund libraries in Illinois.

The Senate agreed with House changes on a 54-0 roll call, sending the bill (S777) to the governor's desk.

As approved, the measure increases the funding authorization for library systems approved by the state librarian from $1 to $1.06 per capita of the population area served and from $35 to $37.27 per square mile.

Total cost to the state would be $840,000, an amount reflected in the governor's proposed budget.

"Library systems are the only agencies funded from the state's general revenue fund that have not had an increase in the past four years," Vadalabene said. "Yet their costs have risen. They certainly deserve this modest increase."

"We must maintain a strong library network in Illinois for all citizens, whether they be small children just learning to read or senior citizens seeking to enrich their lives," Vadalabene said.
